Sally Jo Schlegler Is Queen

PUMPKIN SHOW ROYALTY—Miss Sally Jo Schlegler dazzled the audience and the judges alike Wednesday night as she was crowned Miss Pumpkin Show 1975. The new queen represents the junior class at Circleville High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest E. Schlegler, 359 Walnut Creek Pike. Both her attendants hail from Logan Elm High School. Miss Ann Congrove, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Congrove, Route 1, Kingston, was selected first attendant to Miss Pumpkin Show. Second attendant, Johna Rockwell, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Coddington, 2055 Sioux Drive.

Circleville High School has regained the Miss Pumpkin Show Crown! During the first night's activities, Miss Sally Jo Schlegler, Circleville's junior candidate, was crowned to reign over the 1975 Pumpkin Show. Attending the queen were Logan Elm's two candidates, Johna Rockwell and Ann Congrove.

After a threat of dampened spirits, the weather cleared for the annual program which has become one of the main attractions of the fall festival.

Crowds gathered and packed almost the entire block between Scioto Street and Court Street to watch the new queen crowned.

Miss Schlegler, with a magnificent crowning glory of honey colored hair, is the epitome of old-fashioned charm. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest E. Schlegler, 359 Walnut Creek Pike, and is a member of Circleville's Service Over Self Club. She also marches with the Tiger Band Colorguard.

Attired in a popular sweater dress that complimented her perfect 36-24-36 measurements, Miss Schlegler's lovely blonde locks fell well below her waistline and was undoubtedly the deciding feature in the judges' final selection. The 16-year-old miss stands 5-feet 9-inches tall, weighs 118 pounds and has green eyes.

The crowd chanted Circleville's No. 1, and what a beautiful No. 1 they presented to reign over the 69th annual Pumpkin Show. Miss Schlegler's position in the line-up was coincidentally also No. 1.

Traditionally, Circleville and Logan Elm High Schools have tossed the Miss Pumpkin Show crown between them and this year was no exception. Circleville had the crown in 1972 and 1973 with Laurie May from Logan Elm taking it in 1974. This year, Miss Pumpkin Show from Circleville is attended by two Logan Elm lasses.

First attendant to the queen is Miss Ann Congrove, 16, LE's junior candidate. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Congrove, Route 1, Kingston. A delicate little beauty with hazel eyes and light brown hair, she stands 5-feet 6½-inches tall and weighs a mere 111 pounds. At Logan Elm, she is a member of the varsity cheerleading squad, a third year member of the student council and is enrolled in the school's business office education program.

A sparkle was in each judge's eye when Miss Johna Rockwell walked across the stage. Miss Rockwell, chosen second attendant to the queen, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Coddington, 2055 Sioux Drive. At 17 years old, the lovely miss is a shapely 36-25-36 and weighs 120 pounds. With brown hair and eyes, Miss Rockwell was attired in a shimmering rust colored jersey which showed off her curves to their best advantage.

Judging this year's show were Dan Imel from WBNS television, Dr. Jerry Palmer from Children's Hospital and Ron Walker, owner of Walker's Vinyards.

This year's selection took a record length of time as the judges narrowed the competition to six, the three winners, Circleville's other candidate, Miss Leslie Ried; Wesfall's senior candidate, Janet Morris, and Amanda-Clearcreek's senior candidate Dayna Jill Hursey.

The decision was still not made and the judges called the top three winners back to the stage before continuing their deliberations and making the final decisions, just like the famous Miss America pageant.

Each of the original 12 contestants was asked to explain why she would like to be Miss Pumpkin Show. The winner, Miss Schlegler, replied she felt it would be a fantastic opportunity to represent the people of Circleville in the nationally known festival.

In the final selection, Miss Schlegler was asked how she would describe the Pumpkin Show to the people at the St. Petersburg Festival of the States. Miss Rockwell had to describe a pumpkin and Miss Congrove was asked to describe the largest pumpkin pie.

Traditionally, Miss Pumpkin Show wins a year's free drycleaning from Radcliffe's Cleaners, gift certificates from the Deb Shop and Christopher's Don Botique, a Pumpkin Show pin and a trip to another major festival.

While the judges took their time deliberating, the crowd was charmed with this year's visiting Sun Goddess Marti Bell from St. Petersburg, Fla. She talked about her first impressions of Circleville and said never having been in this area, she had never seen the breathtaking colored leaves. The Sun Goddess jokingly denied bringing the rain with her but the crowd already knew the only thing she could bring is sunshine.

Miss Pumpkin Show 1974, Laurie May told the audience about her reign and about the wonderful people who had made this past year such a cherished memory. She was accompanied during the evening by her attendants Diana Caruso and Lisa Creamer. The trio, if possible, was even more charming than last year when they were selected for the coveted honors.

Lori Fenneken Is 'Little Miss'

LITTLE MISS COURT—Lori Fenneken, center, was selected by judges in Wednesday's festivities, to reign as the 1975-76 Little Miss Pumpkin Show. Members of the Mini Court are, Gina Dawn Carl, left, second attendant and Michelle LaVeck, right, first attendant.

Sunshine, pumpkins and 128 pretty Little Misses ornamented the West Main Street platform Wednesday afternoon, as judges selected Lori Fenneken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fenneken, 626 N. Court St. to reign as the 28th Little Miss Pumpkin Show.

Choosing of the little belle and her attendants sparked the festive atmosphere of the 69th annual Pumpkin Show.

The petite Miss Fenneken was sponsored by the North Court Street Barber Shop.

Weicker Rips Corruption

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., charged Wednesday that Congress and the nation have failed "to learn anything" from the Watergate scandal.

Weicker, a member of the Senate Watergate Committee, said, "Congress has yet to pass one single piece of reform legislation as a result of the (Congressional) hearings."

The senator made his remarks at a speech here at Fairmount Temple.

The longer Congress waits, the harder it is going to be to pass reform legislation, Weicker said.

He also said many abuses highlighted by the Watergate affair persist.

"The country knew during the Watergate hearings that the FBI, CIA and IRS had overstepped their bounds," he said, "but many of the abuses we're now hearing about transpired since Watergate."

He urged Congress to take quick action against invasion of privacy. "There is no national security in America without individual security," he said.

The Herald was visited today by its former press man, Charles C. Starkey Sr. of Springfield . . . Mr. and Mrs. Starkey are visiting here for the Pumpkin Show . . . After leaving Circleville Starkey was employed by Crowell Publishing Co. in Springfield and later was printing instructor at South High School there . . . Mrs. Starkey is the former Frances DeBolt who resided in Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ged Dresbach (Candice Harrington) are here for Pumpkin Show. They came all the way from Kingsville, Tex., where Ged is stationed in the U.S. Navy.

Circleville Police, extremely well-prepared for the Pumpkin Show and its inherent problems, had only a handful of show-related complaints to handle on the opening day.

Most of the complaints dealt with parking problems. Only one accident, not serious, was reported, and only three theft complaints were investigated.

Thieves apparently lifted the wallet from Mildred May's purse Wednesday afternoon while she was touring the downtown area.

Ms. May, Route 4, Chillicothe, told officers that she noticed that her purse was open 6:15 while viewing the pumpkin display. The wallet contained $8 and personal papers.

Bryan Martin, 111 Fairview Ave., had his 26-inch bicycle stolen between 2 and 3:30 p.m. Martin told police that he parked the bike in front of the library.

Thieves broke into a J. Boyd Stout Co. van, parked on Lewis Ave from 5:30 to 12:15, and took many valuable tools and communications equipment.

Larry Herron, Route 4, had parked the vehicle while attending the show.

Missing items owned by the company include a two-way commercial radio and an electric planer. Tools owned by Herron were two electric saws, two hand saws, and an electric belt sander.

"Behemoth" is the way a California newspaper described a 335½-pound pumpkin which won first prize at the Ventura County Fair last week.

The pumpkin, "one of the largest ever grown," according to the paper, measured 117-inches around.

The information was sent to Mrs. Jean Crites, Route 2, Ashville, by an anonymous friend, who asked if the Pumpkin Show can top the big one. We squashed it.

Questioned PS Entry Wins World Series Of Pumpkins

By DAVE AMEY
Herald City Editor

Mark Coon's 378-pound Hungarian Gray squash was declared the champion in the second annual World Series of Pumpkins Wednesday, at least according to local officials.

"We got it," an excited and confident Ned Harden told the throng of Pumpkin Show visitors crowded around the big squash.

However, cries of foul stemming from a controversy evolving around the generic definition of a pumpkin were voiced from the challengers, Half Moon Bay, Calif. The World Series was conducted by means of a special hook-up devised by General Telephone Co. especially for the contest.

The entry from the self-proclaimed Pumpkin Capital of California was a Big Max pumpkin weighing 272¾ pounds. And the controversy continued when local officials claimed the Big Max was really a squash, too.

Anyway, Harden's "we got it" was good enough for the Pumpkin Show officials. "Let them prove different," he said. "We definitely have the biggest."

The World Series was shrouded in controversy in the first year when Ralph Dreisbach's huge squash easily outdistanced a Half Moon Bay pumpkin grown by Tom Menaidis, the son of this year's top contestant, John Menaidis.

California officials, at that time, claimed that only pumpkins should be entered in the World Series of the same name.

But, Pumpkin Show officials say a pumpkin hasn't been entered in the largest contest of the local show since 1963, when a Kathryn Dunkle pumpkin weighing 135 pounds won special mention in a separate category designed especially for the fruit.

At any rate, Half Moon Bay officially protested results of yesterday's contest, saying they want a neutral horticulturist to make the final judgment.

Pumpkin Show vice-president Ned Harden, however, says he already has a ruling. After last year's contest, he determined from the Ohio State University that the Big Max variety was in truth a squash because of its size and stem structure.

Half Moon Bay officials are basing their protest on, of all things, a Burpee Co. seed catalogue, which apparently terms the Big Max strain a pumpkin.

However, George Hamrick, Pickaway County Agricultural Extension Agent, claims the difference of opinion is based on which seed catalogue one reads. Other companies apparently list the Big Max as a squash.

And there's really not that much difference between a pumpkin and a squash anyway, officials say.

Mark Coon, grower of the apparent winner, claims that if there is a difference, it lies in the stem area. Pumpkins traditionally have hard stems, while squash grow with softer stems.

And, according to Coon who specializes in cross-breeding different varieties of squash to obtain the largest possible, a pure Big Max couldn't grow as big as the Half Moon Bay entry. He feels it must be part squash to have grown to 272 pounds.

Present at the World Series on the local end were Harden and Mayor Frank Barnhill, representing PS, Inc.; judges Richard Penn and Hamrick; Red Wilson, department head of the display; and Clarence Radcliffe, chief pumpkin certifier.

Half Moon Bay was represented by a host of folk including Mayor Lloyd Cardoni; former mayor and co-instigator of the original contest, Mel Mello; city manager Fred Mortensen; Miss Half Moon Bay Rhonda Schmidt; chairman of the Half Moon Bay Main St. Committee, Mrs. Eugene Mullin; chairman of the Art and Pumpkin Festival, Mrs. Paul Bettencourt; and judges H. R. Sciaroni of the University of California and Claude Bridges, agriculture commissioner for San Mateo County.

"WE GOT YOU"—Standing behind Mark Coon's 378-pound squash, Pumpkin Show officials claim the title in the second annual World Series of Pumpkins via a telephone hook-up with Half Moon Bay, Calif. From the left are Ned Harden, vice-president of PS, Michele Morrison, show secretary, Mayor Frank Barnhill, and George Hamrick, who claims both communities entered squash in the contest.

Laura Hutzelman Wins Bicentennial Arts Award

Laura Hutzelman's reproduction of early Circleville, in fabric, and an especially attractive group of 15 new quilts have been attention getters in the Home Arts and Crafts Pumpkin Show exhibits.

Committee members and visitors alike have voted that the 1975 display is one of the best ever.

The class for women's sport jackets had nine entries all of exceptional quality and well tailored.

Another class, which the judges gave considerable thought, was the woodcrafts which were also of excellent quality, according to chairman, Mrs. Sterling Poling.

Mrs. Hutzelman's entry won the special award for the best entry using a local historical motif. Mrs. Wendell Turner's painting of the railroad station in Circleville and Mrs. Henry Bartholomew's embroidered map of the Indian villages of the Pickaway Plains were also in close contention for this award.

Gloria Snodgrass captured the special award for the best use of pumpkins in an entry with a bulletin board on which she had painted pumpkins.

Best of Show winners were Betsy French with a knitted afghan; Anna J. Stone with her crewel embroidery entry; Mrs. Harry Barthelmas Jr.,

with a yellow knitted baby outfit and in Section IV, T.D. Stouffer won the Best of Show honors with a plaque of beautifully inlaid wood.

Nearly 500 entries were received at the YMCA by the Home Arts Committee consisting of Mrs. Poling, Mrs. Richard Plum, Mrs. Royce Woolever, Mrs. Robert A. Jones, Mrs. George Seimer and Mrs. James Sutton.

The displays will be released between noon and 2 p.m. Sunday.

Here is a complete list of the winners.

Handmade Baby Dress — Laura Hutzelman, Robert A. Jones, Mrs. Cliff Hedges.

Class 6 — Knitted or Crocheted Baby Clothing — Mrs. Harry Barthelmas Jr., Mrs. Keith Karshner, Gracille Kuhn.

Ford Accident Being Investigated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential motorcades often move swiftly and under police escorts, but a Secret Service spokesman says "it's certainly not standard procedure" for a motorcade to run a red light at an intersection that police left unguarded.

But President Ford's car, driven by a Secret Service agent and led by a police motorcycle and a police cruiser, did just that in Hartford, Conn., Tuesday night. Ford's car was struck broadside by a vehicle which had the

Franklin's Work Praised By Sheriff

The detective work of Deputy Nick Franklin, who unraveled a maize of circumstances to arrest two Kentucky men on a variety of charges, was lauded by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

"Deputy Franklin did an outstanding job," Sheriff Radcliff said, commenting on the incident which began 7:05 p.m. Wednesday after routine traffic check.

As a result, Harold Swanigan, 39, South Shore, Ky., was fined $15 and costs for driving an unsafe vehicle, fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in the Pickaway County Jail for driving under suspension, and fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 15 days in jail for displaying a phony operator's license.

Preliminary hearing was set Oct. 20 in Municipal Court on a charge of possession of stolen property. He is being held under $500 bond on the charge.

Arthur Swanigan, 30, also of South Shore, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail for falsifying his identification.

In addition, Harold Swanigan was discovered to be a parole violator wanted by Kentucky State Police.

Deputy Franklin stopped the car, driven by Harold, on Route 23 in front of the Ohio State Highway Patrol Post to check its safeness.

However, during the check which disclosed that the right rear tire of the car was faulty, the muffler was disconnected, and the right front fender was missing, Harold Swanigan apparently took Arthur's operator's license and gave him his social security card.

A 1974 license plate, without validation sticker, was also discovered in the trunk of the car.

At Department headquarters, Deputy Franklin learned that the license plate had been stolen in April, 1974, from a car owned by Sadie Williams of Portsmouth.

In checking the previous records of the Swanigans, he also found that Arthur had a variety of tattoos on his arm. However, the man claiming to be Arthur had none.

He then discovered the proper identity of the men and made the arrests.

Bond Issue Foes Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Participants in a $5-per-plate dinner to raise funds for a group opposing Gov. James Rhodes' four bond proposals were told Wednesday night that special interest groups stand to gain the most from voter approval of the issues.

"The groups, like the contractors and bankers, who are financing this campaign to get us to raise our taxes, are not in it for the fun," said state Sen. J. Timothy McCormack, D-31 Wickliffe. "They expect to get something."

"And that something is lower taxes, profitable contracts and huge fees — all paid for with the money from the taxes they want us to raise," McCormack said.

The proposed constitutional amendments, to be on the Nov. 4 ballot, would provide for capital improvements, transportation projects, industry tax abatements and construction at an estimated cost of $9.6 billion in principle and interest.

The fundraising dinner was sponsored by Citizens Against Issues 2, 3, 4 & 5.

Darby Twp. Homes Hit By Thieves

Two more homes within a close proximity in Darby Twp. were victimized by burglars Wednesday, according to reports at the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Thieves have struck three homes in the area in the past two days.

Investigating Deputies found that the burglars entered the Route 1, Orient, home of Richard White by forcing the north side door to the back porch and then an inside door.

The house was vacated between 6:15 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Taken in the burglary were a $289 Westinghouse combination stereo and radio with matching speakers, and $98 in bills and coins.

Thieves took cash and guns from the Route 1, Orient, home of Lewis Gantz Jr. between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Entry was gained by cracking a small hole in the front door glass and reaching inside to turn the lock.

Thieves took a .22 Marlin carbine valued at $110, a 12 gauge Ithaca shotgun valued at $60, two boxes of shells for the weapons, a jar containing $25 worth of pennies, and a man's style white gold wristwatch.

Three Hurt In Crash

Three people, the driver and passengers of one same car, were injured in a two-vehicle collision 4:20 p.m. on Route 56 at the Tarlton-Adelphi Rd. intersection.

Referred to a doctor for treatment of minor injuries were driver of the car, John Cooper, 35, Route 1, Guysville, and passengers John Kline, 30, and Paul Taylor, 42, both of Route 1, Nelsonville.

Driver of the other vehicle, Donald Minor Jr., Route 1, Kingston, was cited for failing to yield the right of way.

Investigating Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies reported that Minor, southbound on the Tarlton-Adelphi Rd., stopped at the Route 56 stop sign. However, he allegedly drove into the intersection in an attempt to cut across the state highway and pulled into the path of Cooper's small, foreign car.

Laura Hutzelman Wins Bicentennial Arts Award

Laura Hutzelman's reproduction of early Circleville, in fabric, and an especially attractive group of 15 new quilts have been attention getters in the Home Arts and Crafts Pumpkin Show exhibits.

Committee members and visitors alike have voted that the 1975 display is one of the best ever.

The class for men's sport jackets had nine entries all of exceptional quality and well tailored.

Another class, which the judges gave considerable thought, was the woodcrafts which were also of excellent quality, according to chairman, Mrs. Sterling Poling.

Mrs. Hutzelman's entry won the special award for the best entry using a local historical motif. Mrs. Wendell Turner's painting of the railroad station in Circleville and Mrs. Henry Bartholomew's embroidered map of the Indian villages of the Pickaway Plains were also in close contention for this award.

Gloria Snodgrass captured the special award for the best use of pumpkins in an entry with a bulletin board on which she had painted pumpkins.

Best of Show winners were Betsy French with a knitted afghan; Anna J. Stone with her crewel embroidery entry; Mrs. Harry Barthelmas Jr.,

with a yellow knitted baby outfit and in Section IV, T.D. Stouffer won the Best of Show honors with a plaque of beautifully inlaid wood.

Nearly 500 entries were received at the YMCA by the Home Arts Committee consisting of Mrs. Poling, Mrs. Richard Plum, Mrs. Royce Woolever, Mrs. Robert A. Jones, Mrs. George Seimer and Mrs. James Sutton.

The displays will be released between noon and 2 p.m. Sunday.

Here is a complete list of the winners.

Ford Accident Being Investigated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential motorcades often move swiftly and under police escorts, but a Secret Service spokesman says "it's certainly not standard procedure" for a motorcade to run a red light at an intersection that police left unguarded.

But President Ford's car, driven by a Secret Service agent and led by a police motorcycle and a police cruiser, did just that in Hartford, Conn., Tuesday night. Ford's car was struck broadside by a vehicle which had the

Franklin's Work Praised By Sheriff

The detective work of Deputy Nick Franklin, who unraveled a maize of circumstances to arrest two Kentucky men on a variety of charges, was lauded by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

"Deputy Franklin did an outstanding job," Sheriff Radcliff said, commenting on the incident which began 7:05 p.m. Wednesday after routine traffic check.

As a result, Harold Swanigan, 39, South Shore, Ky., was fined $15 and costs for driving an unsafe vehicle, fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in the Pickaway County Jail for driving under suspension, and fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 15 days in jail for displaying a phony operator's license.

Preliminary hearing was set Oct. 20 in Municipal Court on a charge of possession of stolen property. He is being held under $500 bond on the charge.

Arthur Swanigan, 30, also of South Shore, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail for falsifying his identification.

In addition, Harold Swanigan was discovered to be a parole violator wanted by Kentucky State Police.

Deputy Franklin stopped the car, driven by Harold, on Route 23 in front of the Ohio State Highway Patrol Post to check its safeness.

However, during the check which disclosed that the right rear tire of the car was faulty, the muffler was disconnected, and the right front fender was missing, Harold Swanigan apparently took Arthur's operator's license and gave him his social security card.

A 1974 license plate, without validation sticker, was also discovered in the trunk of the car.

At Department headquarters, Deputy Franklin learned that the license plate had been stolen in April, 1974, from a car owned by Sadie Williams of Portsmouth.

In checking the previous records of the Swanigans, he also found that Arthur had a variety of tattoos on his arm. However, the man claiming to be Arthur had none.

He then discovered the proper identity of the men and made the arrests.

Bond Issue Foes Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Participants in a $5-per-plate dinner to raise funds for a group opposing Gov. James Rhodes' four bond proposals were told Wednesday night that special interest groups stand to gain the most from voter approval of the issues.

"The groups, like the contractors and bankers, who are financing this campaign to get us to raise our taxes, are not in it for the fun," said state Sen. J. Timothy McCormack, D-31 Wickliffe. "They expect to get something."

"And that something is lower taxes, profitable contracts and huge fees — all paid for with the money from the taxes they want us to raise," McCormack said.

The proposed constitutional amendments, to be on the Nov. 4 ballot, would provide for capital improvements, transportation projects, industry tax abatements and construction at an estimated cost of $9.6 billion in principle and interest.

The fundraising dinner was sponsored by Citizens Against Issues 2, 3, 4 & 5.

A Page Of Opinion

A Field Of Opportunity

We note with interest a statement by an Ohio State University professor that more and more students are trying to get into economics classes.

There is probably no field extant with richer opportunity than that of economics. The main reason for this is because if you are an economist, no matter how badly you fumble, you can always blame it on unexpected conditions.

If you forecast good times and the bottom drops out, you can always say a surprise sleet storm in Kansas caused the Dow Jones to drop 500 points.

If you predict a boom year for auto sales and they sell three cars, blame it on an unexpected increase in bicycle riders, or possibly joggers.

No matter what happens, you are completely safe, since only another economist could contradict you. And he has enough black marks on his record to keep his mouth shut.

Look Into My Crystal Ball

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — These days Americans are deep into the occult syndrome — especially where it concerns future predictions. It happens every recession. When you can't make a fortune, you want some seer to make a fortune up for you.

Thus it happened that, at a costume party, a palm-reader advised me that my life line indicates "you'll live to be at least 79."

Amazing. And so far, I must admit, she's been absolutely correct.

In spite of her deadly accuracy in this matter, however, I do not believe in palmistry, any more than I trust tea leaves, crystal balls, tarot cards or Ouija boards. Particularly Ouija boards. When a Ouija predicts you'll marry a man named Z-H-A-H-I-D, and you wait around for an oil baron who never shows, you lose faith.

The palmist must have observed the skepticism beneath my Bugs Bunny mask because she added: "But you do not believe. This, too, is written in your hand."

"Where?" I inquired, scanning my network of x's and lines.

"That's for me to know and you to find out, but I will tell you this much. Every little squiggle has a meaning all its own."

She was putting me on. Or ripping me off. As I rose briskly, prepared to cross her palm with copper, the woman cries, "Wait. Don't you want me to tell you your character, which is written in your hand?"

I slunk into my chair and handed back my hand. "Sure," I said. "What are my character traits?" She shook her head and said "Ah, well. I thought oh-oh."

Then she continued, "A successful palmist, particularly at a party such as this, always confines herself to giving only the good character traits. If a person is selfish or greedy, what is the good of telling him, do you see? He knows already these things. So we speak only of nice character traits. You understand this, perhaps?"

From the way she talked, it was evident that my palm showed moderate to dense obtuseness. "I get it," I said.

"Okay," she said. "You are cheerful, honest and conscientious. And you should live to be at least 79."

"You said that before."

"And you have a good memory," she added.

I can't cheerfully, honestly, conscientiously say that I remember that as such a swell party . . .

If I do live to be 79, I may live to regret it. Being a senior citizen at the turn of the 21 century doesn't promise to be any bowl of electronically pitted cherries.

The tendency today is to send the elderly people out to pasture. By the year 2000, there won't be any pastures to be sent to. As at least one science writer — Isaac Asimov — sees it, many of America's citizens will be working well below the surface of the earth. Whole cities necessarily will be located underground, since there will be little surface room to move around on. And the aerial pathways will be overloaded with transport vehicles.

For the claustrophobic, Asimov

conceded, underground living will be hell.

"But people will come to see the advantages: underground temperature changes are minor, creating fewer problems of cooling in summer and warming in winter. Underground transportation will never be upset by rain or snow. Round-the-clock workshifts would be easy to set up, because the difference between day and night would go unnoticed."

The ground above the sub-cities would be devoted in part to park land for recreation, and in part to farming or grazing. We, the elders, will be in the position of living and working in close confinement, without nature — and bestowing the fresh air, sunshine and grass upon children and cattle.

For vacations, the wealthy may go to the jungles for a whiff of fresh air;

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Some highly regarded authorities on municipal bonds believe a financial default by New York City isn't likely to have further serious impact on the already inflated borrowing costs of other cities.

Their reason for the relatively optimistic view, if that is what it may be called, is based primarily on the assumption that so much damage to confidence already has occurred that a default could hardly make it worse.

Borrowing through the issuance of bonds has been made literally impossible for many local and state governments and their agencies. Even those with the highest ratings are forced to pay record high rates.

"What do you mean 'ripple effect,'" said a Kansas City dealer about the widespread loss of confidence and resulting higher borrowing costs. "It's been a tidal wave here." Some dealers believe it can't get worse.

"I don't think that in or out of New York municipal bonds will be discounted much more," said Siesel E. Canady Jr., of John Nuveen & Co., a 77-year-old house that specializes in tax-exempt municipal bonds.

"An actual default will be no catastrophe," he said. "There will be an initial drop in the market for certain, but a rebound will follow and in a few weeks the market will be back to where it was before."

Canada doesn't eliminate the possibility of damage to confidence that might take years to overcome. Nor does he ignore the chance that "social and other problems might follow in New York City." But he does feel the impact on the structure of the market, and trading, will be relatively slight.

A return to existing conditions however can hardly be construed as completely encouraging, because the market today is so badly depressed. Roughly $20 billion has been erased from the value of municipal securities in just one year.

The Standard & Poor's municipal bond index shows average borrowing costs now are at 7.32 per cent, after reaching an all-time high of 7.40 a week ago. A year ago the index was about 6.6 per cent.

Dow Jones showed municipal bonds yielding investors 7.63 per cent last week, more than a full percentage point over rates of just one year ago.

"The market is in a psychic panic," said Brenton Harries, president of Standard & Poor's Corp., which assigns credit ratings to about 95 per cent of the more than $200 billion worth of municipal bonds outstanding.

Potential investors in municipal securities, he said, have reacted "totally out of proportion to the risk." In other words, he indicated, the worst might already have been taken into account.

Diplomat Slates Visit

ADA, Ohio (AP) — Philip Noel-Baker, a British diplomat who helped form the League of Nations and later served as its secretariat, will be a guest of Ohio Northern University's bicentennial committee Saturday through Thursday.

Noel-Baker, holder of the Noble Peace Prize, will lecture on the campus. He will speak on "A British View of the American Revolution" Sunday.

Monday, he will visit Bowling Green State University and Tuesday he will speak at Findlay College.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Oct. 16, the 289th day of 1975. There are 76 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1964, the Peoples Republic of China announced it had tested its first nuclear bomb, making it the world's fifth atomic power.

On this date: In 1793, Queen Marie Antoinette of France was executed by guillotine.

In 1815, Napoleon Bonaparte landed as an exile on the island of St. Helena.

In 1840, New Zealand became a British colony.

In 1940, the United States banned all shipments of steel and scrap iron to Japan.

In 1971, there were elaborate ceremonies in Athens to welcome a visitor of Greek descent, U.S. Vice President Spiro Agnew.

Ten years ago: Thousands of demonstrators poured into streets across the U.S. in protest against America's role in the Vietnam War.

Five years ago: Anwar Sadat became President of Egypt, succeeding the late Gamal Abdel Nasser.

One year ago: Congress overrode a veto by President Ford for the first time as the Senate joined the House in voting funds for the Railroad Retirement System.

Today's birthdays: U.S. Supreme Court Justice William Douglas is 77 years old. Actress Angela Lansbury is 50.

Thought for today: It is better to be stupid like everyone than to be clever like no one — Anatole France, French writer, 1844-1924.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Britain's secretary of state, Lord Suffolk, wrote to the governor of Nova Scotia that American rebels reportedly had designs on Canada and urged plans for the defense of Halifax.

35 YEARS AGO

The Ohio History Day Association celebration at Logan Elm State Park featured Chief Winesheik, a full-blooded Winnebago. One of the companions of Admiral Byrd on his 1933 expedition to the Antarctic, the chief had Indian art works exhibited in museums around the country and worked as a metallurgist and chemist in Brooklyn, N. Y.

A modern "Tom Sawyer" motion picture, "Barefoot Boy," was presented in Circleville city school assemblies. The film was a story of youth and its high standards and code of honor.

Perry Township School at Atlanta closed its doors for a week fearing a polio epidemic after a case of infantile paralysis was discovered in the school.

Ted Lewis Recreation Center was the name selected for Circleville's public playground. The announcement was made following a $1,000 donation from the city's number one ambassador, Ted Lewis and Mrs. Lewis to aid the park project.

The first new corn delivered to Ashville Grain was by Cecil Noecker and brought 54 cents.

LAFF - A - DAY

"Very good, Mr. Colbert, but you're supposed to yell before you break the board, not after."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I am more sensitive to mosquito bites and insect stings than anyone else in the family. I blow up like a balloon when I'm bitten. Is there anything I can do about this?

Miss J. G., Fla.

Dear Miss G.:

No one has ever satisfactorily explained why mosquitoes are partial to some people and not to others. Once you know that you are unusually sensitive to them you must make an effort to avoid them.

I am told that there are some sprays on the market which, when applied on the skin, seem to discourage mosquitoes from taking a nip or, in fact, staying in the immediate neighborhood.

Fleas, mites, bees, ants and mosquitoes can produce a severe allergic reaction in people who are particularly sensitive to the toxin they inject into a human skin.

A Page Of Opinion

A Field Of Opportunity

We note with interest a statement by an Ohio State University professor that more and more students are trying to get into economics classes.

There is probably no field extant with richer opportunity than that of economics. The main reason for this is because if you are an economist, no matter how badly you fumble, you can always blame it on unexpected conditions.

If you forecast good times and the bottom drops out, you can always say a surprise sleet storm in Kansas caused the Dow Jones to drop 500 points.

If you predict a boom year for auto sales and they sell three cars, blame it on an unexpected increase in bicycle riders, or possibly joggers.

No matter what happens, you are completely safe, since only another economist could contradict you. And he has enough black marks on his record to keep his mouth shut.

Look Into My Crystal Ball

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — These days Americans are deep into the occult syndrome — especially where it concerns future predictions. It happens every recession. When you can't make a fortune, you want some seer to make a fortune up for you.

Thus it happened that, at a costume party, a palm-reader advised me that my life line indicates "you'll live to be at least 79."

Amazing. And so far, I must admit, she's been absolutely correct.

In spite of her deadly accuracy in this matter, however, I do not believe in palmistry, any more than I trust tea leaves, crystal balls, tarot cards or Ouija boards. Particularly Ouija boards. When a Ouija predicts you'll marry a man named Z-H-A-H-I-D, and you wait around for an oil baron who never shows, you lose faith.

The palmist must have observed the skepticism beneath my Bugs Bunny mask because she added: "But you do not believe. This, too, is written in your hand."

"Where?" I inquired, scanning my network of x's and lines.

"That's for me to know and you to find out, but I will tell you this much. Every little squiggle has a meaning all its own."

She was putting me on. Or ripping me off. As I rose briskly, prepared to cross her palm with copper, the woman cries, "Wait. Don't you want me to tell you your character, which is written in your hand?"

I slunk into my chair and handed back my hand. "Sure," I said. "What are my character traits?" She shook her head and said "Ah, well." I thought oh-oh.

Then she continued, "A successful palmist, particularly at a party such as this, always confines herself to giving only the good character traits. If a person is selfish or greedy, what is the good of telling him, do you see? He knows already these things. So we speak only of nice character traits. You understand this, perhaps?"

From the way she talked, it was evident that my palm showed moderate to dense obtuseness. "I get it," I said.

"Okay," she said. "You are cheerful, honest and conscientious. And you should live to be at least 79."

"You said that before."

"And you have a good memory," she added.

I can't cheerfully, honestly, conscientiously say that I remember that as such a swell party...

If I do live to be 79, I may live to regret it. Being a senior citizen at the turn of the 21 century doesn't promise to be any bowl of electronically pitted cherries.

The tendency today is to send the elderly people out to pasture. By the year 2000, there won't be any pastures to be sent to. As at least one science writer — Isaac Asimov — sees it, many of America's citizens will be working well below the surface of the earth. Whole cities necessarily will be located underground, since there will be little surface room to move around on. And the aerial pathways will be overloaded with transport vehicles.

For the claustrophobic, Asimov

conceded, underground living will be hell.

"But people will come to see the advantages: underground temperature changes are minor, creating fewer problems of cooling in summer and warming in winter. Underground transportation will never be upset by rain or snow. Round-the-clock workshifts would be easy to set up, because the difference between day and night would go unnoticed."

The ground above the sub-cities would be devoted in part to park land for recreation, and in part to farming or grazing. We, the elders, will be in the position of living and working in close confinement, without nature — and bestowing the fresh air, sunshine and grass upon children and cattle.

For vacations, the wealthy may go to the jungles for a whiff of fresh air; jungles, having lost the bulk of their predators, will have become resort areas. The Antarctic and Arctic coastlines will also offer privacy.

Asimov has foreseen the dangers of air pollution and predicted that in the year 2000 there will be a ban on pollutant vehicles and smoking of any kind in the open air; there will be "smokatoriums" below ground for communal inhaling. Private planes will necessarily be abolished. But men may skim over pastures with small motors mounted on their backs. This will be practical for businessmen who must commute from underground city to underground suburb.

If Asimov's predictions make you feel like crawling under a rock, take heart... you're 25 years ahead of your time!

Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Some highly regarded authorities on municipal bonds believe a financial default by New York City isn't likely to have further serious impact on the already inflated borrowing costs of other cities.

Their reason for the relatively optimistic view, if that is what it may be called, is based primarily on the assumption that so much damage to confidence already has occurred that a default could hardly make it worse.

Borrowing through the issuance of bonds has been made literally impossible for many local and state governments and their agencies. Even those with the highest ratings are forced to pay record high rates.

"What do you mean 'ripple effect,'" said a Kansas City dealer about the widespread loss of confidence and resulting higher borrowing costs. "It's been a tidal wave here." Some dealers believe it can't get worse.

"I don't think that in or out of New York municipal bonds will be discounted much more," said Siesel E. Canady Jr., of John Nuveen & Co., a 77-year-old house that specializes in tax-exempt municipal bonds.

"An actual default will be no catastrophe," he said. "There will be an initial drop in the market for certain, but a rebound will follow and in a few weeks the market will be back to where it was before."

Canady doesn't eliminate the possibility of damage to confidence that might take years to overcome. Nor does he ignore that chance that "social and other problems might follow in New York City." But he does feel the impact on the structure of the market, and trading, will be relatively slight.

A return to existing conditions however can hardly be construed as completely encouraging, because the market today is so badly depressed. Roughly $20 billion has been erased from the value of municipal securities in just one year.

The Standard & Poor's municipal bond index shows average borrowing costs now are at 7.32 per cent, after reaching an all-time high of 7.40 a week ago. A year ago the index was about 6.6 per cent.

Dow Jones showed municipal bonds yielding investors 7.63 per cent last week, more than a full percentage point over rates of just one year ago.

"The market is in a psychic panic," said Brenton Harries, president of Standard & Poor's Corp., which assigns credit ratings to about 95 per cent of the more than $200 billion worth of municipal bonds outstanding.

Potential investors in municipal securities, he said, have reacted "totally out of proportion to the risk." In other words, he indicated, the worst might already have been taken into account.

Diplomat Slates Visit

ADA, Ohio (AP) — Philip Noel-Baker, a British diplomat who helped form the League of Nations and later served as its secretariat, will be a guest of Ohio Northern University's bicentennial committee Saturday through Thursday.

Noel-Baker, holder of the Noble Peace Prize, will lecture on the campus. He will speak on "A British View of the American Revolution" Sunday.

Monday, he will visit Bowling Green State University and Tuesday he will speak at Findlay College.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Oct. 16, the 289th day of 1975. There are 76 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1964, the Peoples Republic of China announced it had tested its first nuclear bomb, making it the world's fifth atomic power.

On this date:

In 1793, Queen Marie Antoinette of France was executed by guillotine.

In 1815, Napoleon Bonaparte landed as an exile on the island of St. Helena.

In 1840, New Zealand became a British colony.

In 1940, the United States banned all shipments of steel and scrap iron to Japan.

In 1971, there were elaborate ceremonies in Athens to welcome a visitor of Greek descent, U.S. Vice President Spiro Agnew.

Ten years ago: Thousands of demonstrators poured into streets across the U.S. in protest against America's role in the Vietnam War.

Five years ago: Anwar Sadat became President of Egypt, succeeding the late Gamal Abdel Nasser.

One year ago: Congress overrode a veto by President Ford for the first time as the Senate joined the House in voting funds for the Railroad Retirement System.

Today's birthdays: U.S. Supreme Court Justice William Douglas is 77 years old. Actress Angela Lansbury is 50.

Thought for today: It is better to be stupid like everyone than to be clever like no one — Anatole France, French writer, 1844-1924.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, Britain's secretary of state, Lord Suffolk, wrote to the governor of Nova Scotia that American rebels reportedly had designs on Canada and urged plans for the defense of Halifax.

The Ohio History Day Association celebration at Logan Elm State Park featured Chief Winnesheik, a full-blooded Winnebago. One of the companions of Admiral Byrd on his 1933 expedition to the Antarctic, the chief had Indian art works exhibited in museums around the country and worked as a metallurgist and chemist in Brooklyn, N. Y.

A modern "Tom Sawyer" motion picture, "Barefoot Boy," was presented in Circleville city school assemblies. The film was a story of youth and its high standards and code of honor.

Perry Township School at Atlanta closed its doors for a week fearing a polio epidemic after a case of infantile paralysis was discovered in the school.

Ted Lewis Recreation Center was the name selected for Circleville's public playground. The announcement was made following a $1,000 donation from the city's number one ambassador, Ted Lewis and Mrs. Lewis to aid the park project.

The first new corn delivered to Ashville Grain was by Cecil Noecker and brought 54 cents.

When one has had an unpleasant experience and has been shown to be allergic, desensitization (immunization) can be tried. The technique is a complicated one and should be done by an allergist who has a special knowledge about the complexities of this desensitization process.

Dr. Howard G. Rappaport, of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, makes some important suggestions about how to avoid reactions to stings and, particularly, how to treat them if you are stung.

He suggests: Sensitive people should learn to recognize and distinguish the characteristics of hornets, yellow jackets, bees and wasps.

People who are allergic to insect venom should keep away from flowers and not use scented preparations outdoors.

Dr. Rappaport says, "If you are stung, you should have epinephrine available for immediate injection plus a rapid-acting antihistamine. (This should be prescribed by a doctor.)

"If stung, remove the sting, which looks like a small splinter. To minimize the spread of the venom, apply ice to the skin."

Whenever possible, highly allergic people should immediately go to the nearest hospital when stung.

It is wise to keep in your wallet some notation of your hypersensitivity to insect venom. Many people wear or carry a medallion noting their special sensitivity.

Dear Sir:

Throughout this, America's Bicentennial year, many events making up this nation's history have been presented to us via TV, the radio and the printed page. It goes without saying that such is as it should be.

On the other hand, there goes, quite overlooked most of the time, the credit due ourselves and our contemporaries—those who through their daily efforts keep this nation on an even keel, preserving our heritage and passing down to posterity this piece of the universe we proudly call America.

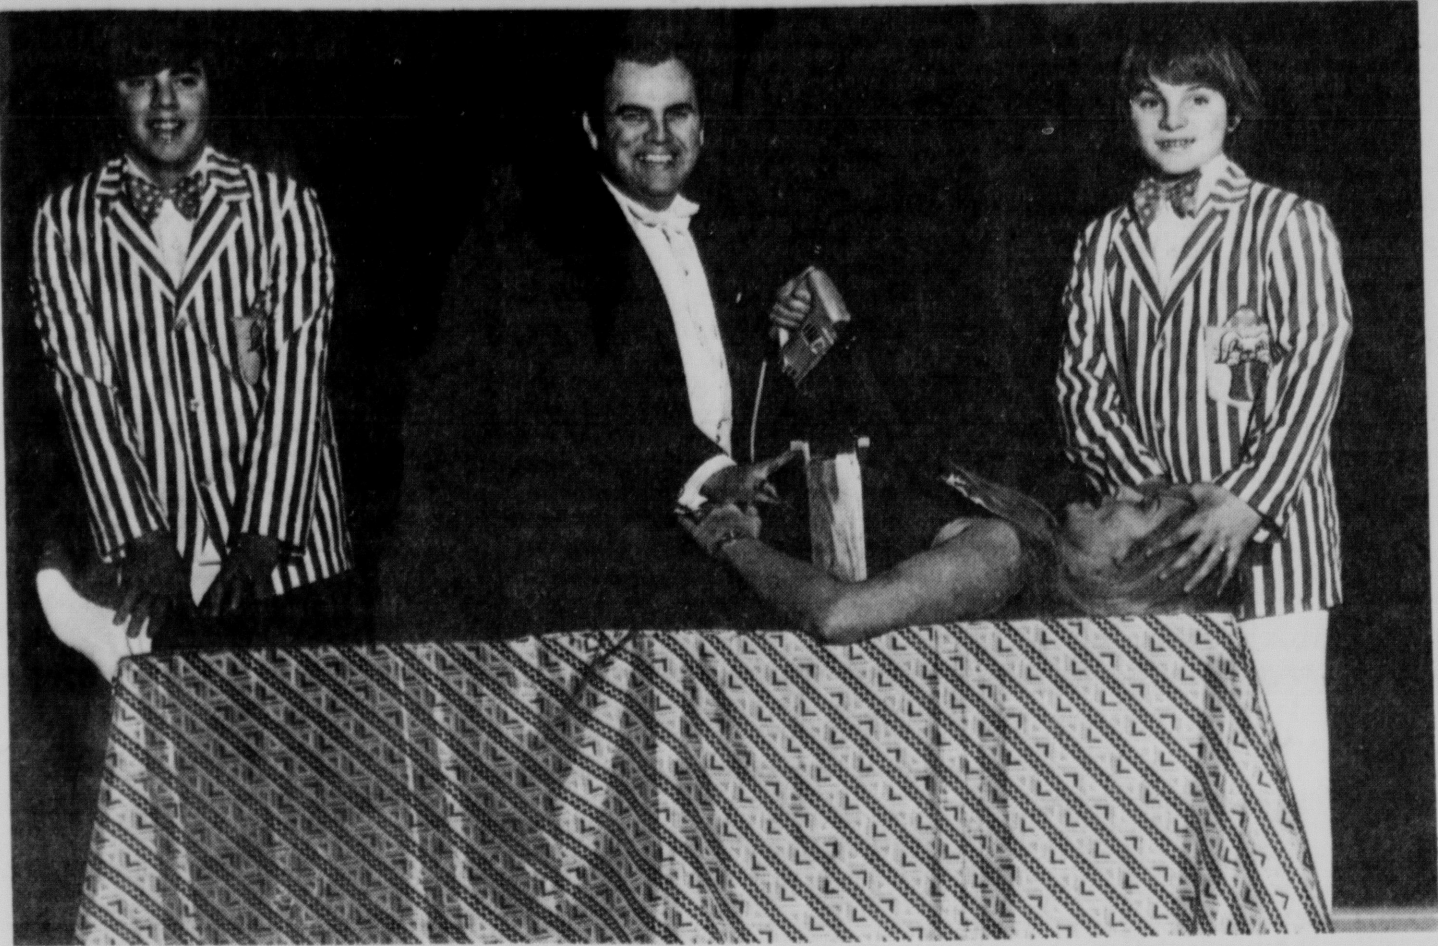

It is said that when we illumine the common things we fill our skies with stars. It is this ability to do so on behalf of the responsible people of this country that makes us a nation for which the words of the song, "God Bless America," have profound meaning.

The golden days of this month, similar days that inspired Henry Hunt Jackson to title one of poems "October's Bright Blue Weather," presents us with a view of our land both breathtaking and inspiring. It is our most cherished wish that God Help us keep it that way.

Comeback Makes Affair A Has-Been

DEAR ABBY: I am 42 and was seriously dating Ernie, a very eligible 60-year-old widower, when the following rift developed in our relationship:

One day Ernie suddenly turned to me and said, "You look like your father."

I immediately countered with, "You look like Sylvia Singer. (Sylvia Singer is a mutual friend who, like Ernie, has light blue eyes and is prematurely gray.)"

At this point, Ernie became so infuriated he cursed, which he seldom does.

I then said, "You don't mind telling me that I look like a man, but you become infuriated when I tell you that you look like a woman. Why?"

He said, "It's different when you tell a woman she looks like her father."

I said, "There is no difference. You are still telling a woman that she looks like a man!"

He never called me again, and all my efforts to re-establish communication by phone and mail have failed.

Do you think I was wrong? And how can I patch things up?

SORRY IN D.C.

DEAR SORRY: Yes, you were wrong. When he said you looked like your father, he was merely commenting on a family resemblance. But you retaliated in anger with a castrating comeback in a deliberate attempt to belittle his male ego.

Face it, dear. You blew it.

DEAR ABBY: Lately, everything I've been doing comes out all wrong. I'm 17 and have this reputation of being an easy pick-up. Things couldn't be worse. All the guys treat me like some kind of tramp. Sure, I've made a few mistakes, but nobody lets me forget them.

There are about 20 guys I hang around with who put me down because I have let them use me, thinking that was the way to be popular.

How do I shake this reputation of being a tramp? It makes me feel so low and cheap.

To make matters worse, I really like one of the guys a lot but he won't even look at me.

EASY PICK-UP

DEAR EASY: If you sincerely want to improve your image, you can. First, stay away from the 20 guys you mentioned. And the next time you are with a fellow, make it plain that you will NOT permit him to use you. He may not believe it at first, but consistent ladylike behavior on your part will convince him that you've reformed.

DEAR ABBY: Last week, I went to a luncheon at a neighbor's home. She kept chasing her 5-year-old son outside. Once, when he refused to leave, she picked up the telephone and dialed, whereupon the child took off, running in fear.

I laughed and asked, "Are you pretending to call his father?"

"No," she replied, "I'm calling the witch!" She explained that she calls the witch to "come and get him" when he's "bad." Then, she asked me not to tell him there was no such thing as a witch.

I was appalled and told her that when her son gets older and realizes that she's been lying to him, he won't trust her anymore. She then commented that she didn't care what he thought in the future because it worked for now!

Abby, how do you feel about these scare tactics to discipline children?

STUNNED

DEAR STUNNED: I'm with you. The truth is always best. And that goes for Santa Claus, the tooth fairy and the stork.

News Of Interest To Women

The Circleville Herald, Thursday October 16, 1975

MRS. RONALD LEE ALTEN

Ringgold Methodist Church Setting For Marriage Vows

East Ringgold United Methodist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Sandra Sue Hill and Mr. Ronald Lee Alten.

The Rev. Don Makarius officiated the double ring ceremony 3:30 p.m., Sept. 21, for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Hill, Route 5, Circleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Alten, 239 Talmadge Ave., Lancaster.

The church was decorated with two altar vases of white spider mums, pink, white and yellow pompon mums and white daisies surrounded by baby's breath and greenery. The altar table with a gold cross, candles and open Bible was decorated with an arrangement of white pompon mums, baby's breath and greenery, and was flanked by two seven branch candelabra decorated with white bows. White satin bows and greenery marked the pews. A white unity candle was lighted by the couple at the end of the ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Jeff Hill, organist, presented a program of music including "Love Theme From Romeo And Juliet," "Follow Me" and "We've Only Just Begun." Vocalist, Mr. David Clark, played guitar and was accompanied by Mr. Paul Kazee on a guitar as he sang, "If," "Until The Twelfth Of Never," "The Wedding Song" and "A Time For Us."

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by both of her parents. For her wedding she selected a floor length gown of sheer dacron polyester dotted swiss lined with acetate taffeta and accented with lace stand-up collar. The bodice front was trimmed with Venice lace creating a V-shaped bib. Bishop sleeves ended with points over her hands trimmed with lace. The empire bodice was finished with white satin ribbon overlaid with matching lace and caught in the back with a white satin bow. The Florentine style skirt fell to a full ruffle which was gathered beneath a wide band of lace. The bride's chapel length mantilla was caught to a lace covered Juliet cap and was outlined with matching lace.

The bride carried a colonial bouquet of white pompon mums and pink sweetheart roses with two long stemmed roses which the bride removed and presented to her mother and the bridegroom's mother at the end of the ceremony. The entire arrangement was surrounded with baby's breath and greenery and tied with pink and white streamers ending in lover's knots.

Miss Kathy Hill served her sister as maid of honor. Her floor length gown of pastel blue polyester crepe with pink and white flocked flowers featured puffed sleeves with small cuffs, flared skirt and an empire waistline on a fitted bodice with a self fabric neck ruffle and front inset forming the neckline. She wore a white picture hat with blue satin ribbon with streamers falling softly to the waist. She carried one blue and one white football mum surrounded by baby's breath and greenery, and trailing blue and white streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Cheri Peters of Circleville, cousin of the bride, Mrs. John Glick and Miss Stephanie Denman of Ashville. They were attired in dresses styled as that of the honor attendant in mint green, pastel yellow and pink respectively. They each carried one football mum tinted to match each dress and surrounded by baby's breath, greenery and ribbon forming streamers. They also wore white picture hats trimmed with satin ribbon to match their gowns. The attendants all wore short chain necklaces, gifts of the bride.

The flower girl, Miss Melissa Hill, cousin of the bride, wore a long white polyester crepe dress with pink and white flocked flowers with short puffed sleeves, round neck accented with lace and embroidered lace creating a bib effect. She carried a small white wicker basket of miniature white flowers with matching flowers in her hair.

Master Shawn Hill, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. He carried the rings on a white heart-shaped satin pillow made for the bride by her grandmother, Mrs. William E. Clark, trimmed with lace from her own wedding gown.

The attendant's dresses were designed and made by the bride's mother with the exception of Mrs. Glick who made her own.

Mr. Allen Alten served his brother as best man attired in his Air Force uniform. Ushers were Mr. Brad Hill and Mr. Dick Hill, brothers of the bride, and Mr. Mark Alten, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Hill was attired in a floor length gown of cocoa brown polyester crepe with long straight sleeves, trimmed at the neck and wrists with beige lace and accessories. She wore a corsage matching the bride's bouquet of white pompon mums and pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Alten chose a floor length gown of printed beige chiffon over pale yellow with beige accessories. She wore a corsage of white pompon mums and orange sweetheart roses.

An outdoor reception in the home of the bride immediately followed the ceremony. The bride's table held a four tiered wedding cake centered in front of an ivy covered trellis. The cake was decorated with tiny petal clusters of pink, blue, yellow and green to match the wedding color scheme and topped with the traditional bride and groom figures. Small tables placed in the yard held bud vases of vari-colored button mums.

Hostesses were Miss Renee Schrader and the Misses Judy and Joyce Ritchie, cousins of the bride, and

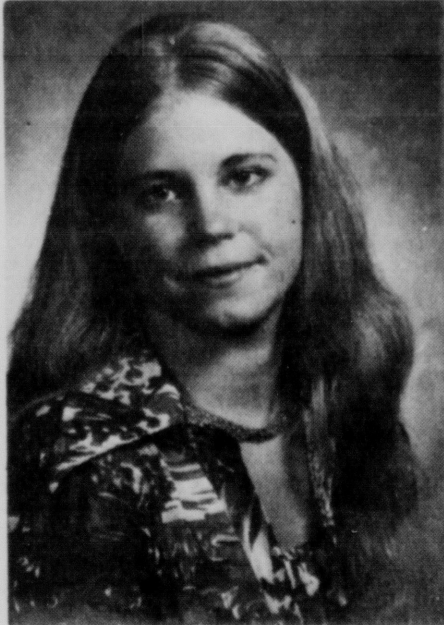

Mrs. Henry Walters Speaker For Club

Mrs. Rex Wood presided at the October 13 meeting of the Monday Club, held at the Historical Museum. Mrs. Bishop Given presented a resolution of respect for Mrs. Charles May, former member of the club for many years.

Mrs. Henry Walters was introduced by Miss Nelle Oesterle. Her paper titled "Galaxy Government," covered a flight to the planetary city of Trantor in the year 12,069. With a light touch she described traveling conditions in a space ship, life in a steel shell large enough to contain its own weather conditions, and the complicated transportation system of the futuristic metropolis. She researched her paper in science and science fiction publications.

Next meeting of the Monday Club is scheduled for October 27.

MRS. RONALD LEE ALTEN

Ringgold Methodist Church Setting For Marriage Vows

East Ringgold United Methodist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Sandra Sue Hill and Mr. Ronald Lee Alten.

The Rev. Don Makarius officiated the double ring ceremony 3:30 p.m., Sept. 21, for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Hill, Route 5, Circleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Alten, 239 Talmadge Ave., Lancaster.

The church was decorated with two altar vases of white spider mums, pink, white and yellow pompon mums and white daisies surrounded by baby's breath and greenery. The altar table with a gold cross, candles and open Bible was decorated with an arrangement of white pompon mums, baby's breath and greenery, and was flanked by two seven branch candelabra decorated with white bows. White satin bows and greenery marked the pews. A white unity candle was lighted by the couple at the end of the ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Jeff Hill, organist, presented a program of music including "Love Theme From Romeo And Juliet," "Follow Me" and "We've Only Just Begun." Vocalist, Mr. David Clark, played guitar and was accompanied by Mr. Paul Kazee on a guitar as he sang, "If," "Until The Twelfth Of Never," "The Wedding Song" and "A Time For Us."

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by both of her parents. For her wedding she selected a floor length gown of sheer dacron polyester dotted swiss lined with acetate taffeta and accented with lace stand-up collar. The bodice front was trimmed with venice lace creating a V-shaped bib. Bishop sleeves ended with points over her hands trimmed with lace. The empire bodice was finished with white satin ribbon overlaid with matching lace and caught in the back with a white satin bow. The Florentine style skirt fell to a full ruffle which was gathered beneath a wide band of lace. The bride's chapel length mantilla was caught to a lace covered Juliet cap and was outlined with matching lace.

The bride carried a colonial bouquet of white pompon mums and pink sweetheart roses with two long stemmed roses which the bride removed and presented to her mother and the bridegroom's mother at the end of the ceremony. The entire arrangement was surrounded with baby's breath and greenery and tied with pink and white streamers ending in lover's knots.

Miss Kathy Hill served her sister as maid of honor. Her floor length gown of pastel blue polyester crepe with pink and white flocked flowers featured puffed sleeves with small cuffs, flared skirt and an empire waistline on a fitted bodice with a self fabric neck ruffle and front inset forming the neckline. She wore a white picture hat with blue satin ribbon with streamers falling softly to the waist. She carried one blue and one white football mum surrounded by baby's breath and greenery, and trailing blue and white streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Cheri Peters of Circleville, cousin of the bride, Mrs. John Glick and Miss Stephanie Denman of Ashville. They were attired in dresses styled as that of the honor attendant in mint green, pastel yellow and pink respectively. They each carried one football mum tinted to match each dress and surrounded by baby's breath, greenery and ribbon forming streamers. They also wore white picture hats trimmed with satin ribbon to match their gowns. The attendants all wore short chain necklaces, gifts of the bride.

The flower girl, Miss Melissa Hill, cousin of the bride, wore a long white polyester crepe dress with pink and white flocked flowers with short puffed sleeves, round neck accented with lace and embroidered lace creating a bib effect. She carried a small white wicker basket of miniature white flowers with matching flowers in her hair.

Master Shawn Hill, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. He carried the rings on a white heart-shaped satin pillow made for the bride by her grandmother, Mrs. William E. Clark, trimmed with lace from her own wedding gown.

The attendant's dresses were designed and made by the bride's mother with the exception of Mrs. Glick who made her own.

Mr. Allen Alten served his brother as best man attired in his Air Force uniform. Ushers were Mr. Brad Hill and Mr. Dick Hill, brothers of the bride, and Mr. Mark Alten, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Hill was attired in a floor length gown of cocoa brown polyester crepe with long straight sleeves, trimmed at the neck and wrists with beige lace and accessories. She wore a corsage matching the bride's bouquet of white pompon mums and pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Alten chose a floor length gown of printed beige chiffon over pale yellow with beige accessories. She wore a corsage of white pompon mums and orange sweetheart roses.

An outdoor reception in the home of the bride immediately followed the ceremony. The bride's table held a four tiered wedding cake centered in front of an ivy covered trellis. The cake was decorated with tiny petal clusters of pink, blue, yellow and green to match the wedding color scheme and topped with the traditional bride and groom figures. Small tables placed in the yard held bud vases of vari-colored button mums.

Hostesses were Miss Renee Schrader and the Misses Judy and Joyce Ritchie, cousins of the bride, and

Mrs. Henry Walters Speaker For Club

Mrs. Rex Wood presided at the October 13 meeting of the Monday Club, held at the Historical Museum. Mrs. Bishop Given presented a resolution of respect for Mrs. Charles May, former member of the club for many years.

Mrs. Henry Walters was introduced by Miss Nelle Oesterle. Her paper titled "Galaxy Government," covered a flight to the planetary city of Trantor in the year 12,069. With a light touch she described traveling conditions in a space ship, life in a steel shell large enough to contain its own weather conditions, and the complicated transportation system of the futuristic metropolis. She researched her paper in science and science fiction publications.

Next meeting of the Monday Club is scheduled for October 27.

The Women's Society of the Laurel Hills United Methodist church met on last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. George Reid with Mrs. Dick Karr assisting. Mrs. Ella Williams, the president, presided.

Mrs. O. V. McFadden, spiritual life leader, read the scripture and a poem "Beautiful October". A most interesting program was presented by Mrs. David Blue (Velma Swackhammer) and her daughter Jill of near Circleville. Their topic was exchange students to and from foreign countries. Velma described the students she and David have had in their home and how the arrangements are made to have them.

Jill, who is a senior at Teays Valley, told of her stay this past summer in Medellin, Columbia, South America as an exchange student. Her adopted family was the Rafael Londono Pasado family. She was a sister to the three boys and two girls. The 18-year-old sister had learned English which was very helpful to Jill.

New thank offering boxes were given out at the meeting. Closing prayer was by Mrs. E. F. Disbennett. Contest winners were Mrs. Jack Notestone, Mrs. F. E. Swackhammer and Mrs. Disbennett.

The Youth Fellowship of the Adelphi M.E. church met Oct. 5 with nine members and their leader present. Jeff Smith lead devotions. The group will hold a Halloween party the last Sunday evening of October at 7 p.m. at the church.

Lisa Weaver is chairman of the decoration committee, Laura Weaver is games chairman and Kay Kelly is in charge of refreshments.

A Christmas bazaar is planned for sometime after Thanksgiving day.

Oct. 12 may be Columbus Day to most people but to my little neighbor Mindy Reams, it is a much more important day. It is her birthday and last Sunday she celebrated being four.

Joining her for ice cream and cake in the evening were her Mother and Daddy, Cliff and Joy Reams, her grandparents, Mrs. Vera Garrett and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Reams Sr., others were Mrs. Jerry Wiggins and baby son Jerney Jay, Carl and Ann Stalder, Mrs. Sue Hinton, Steve and Karen Garrett, Julie Gaines, Cris Radabaugh and neighbor Celesta. Minda was happy with her gifts and cards she received.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moran, Mr. Michael Moran and Miss Machele Robinette of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Robinette, daughters LeeAnn and Colleen, and Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Eveland enjoyed dinner at Hocking Hills Lodge last Monday evening. Later they joined Mike Eveland and Connie Dollison at the Eveland home for home made ice cream and cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sheeley (Minnie DeLong) of Phoenix, Ariz. have been visiting Ohio relatives and friends. Last Tuesday they were luncheon guests of Mrs. Arthur Hinton. Minnie also visited Mrs. Hattie Karr and two former schoolmates, Mrs. Zola Flanigan and Mrs. Dora Ross. The Sheeleys have also been guests of Minnie's brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar DeLong of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeLong of Amanda and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon DeLong of Route 1. Her brother Edgar recently suffered a heart attack and is hospitalized.

Recent afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Chilcote were Jack Miller of Circleville and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bergeron of Ontario, Canada. The Bergerons are camp managers of Waverly Lodge where the Chilcotes and Millers spend their vacations.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arledge (Alice Jinks) and son Bob and daughter Sue of Sanford, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Ron Arledge and daughter Beth of Columbus, Mrs. Elizabeth Arledge and sister Mable Furness of Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Jinks of Route

4, and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Jinks and Mrs. Helen Winner of Laurelville were Sunday guests and enjoyed a carry in dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Arledge and daughters Kathy, Karen and Kelly of near Columbus.

Mrs. Guy Hunter has returned to her home in Kingston after undergoing major surgery in Doctor's Hospital, North.

Cecil Moore of Route 1, Laurelville has been a surgical patient in Riverside Hospital, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Fox and Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Fox of Van Wert County visited Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Golda Paxton. Marion and Golda are cousins and hadn't seen each other for 49 years.

Saturday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Ash, Rita and Dave were Mr. and Mrs. George Ash Jr. and son Michael.

Dave Ash and Danny DeLong Jr. of Laurelville earned trophies at the Tarke Enduro held at Cycle Trails on Sunday. Dave placed first in 250 class and Danny second in 125 class.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clark were recent visitors in Athens and Amesville.

Mrs. Ruth Boecher of Columbus, formerly of Laurelville, is a patient in Riverside Hospital. Her brother, Mark Armstrong, of Circleville has returned to his home after being a surgical patient in a Columbus hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Race of Canal Winchester, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Wolf of Route 1.

Sunday dinner guests of Margaret Johnson of Laurelville were Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Johnson, Dana and Troyce of Route 2, Laurelville.

A number of Laurelville people called at the Defenbaugh Wise funeral home Thursday evening and Friday to see Iver (Bo) Karr who died at his home in Tarlton. He was a brother of Dick Karr of Laurelville.

The October meeting of the Monroe Parent Teacher Organization was held in the school gymnasium Oct. 13. The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer and the pledge of allegiance led by the president, Mrs. Conrad.

Mrs. Jackson's fourth grade won the room count. Mrs. Conrad reported on the membership drive, stating the following room winners: Mrs. Chapman first place; Mrs. Davis, second; Mrs. Trimble and Mrs. Jackson, tied for third.

Harley Hiser and helpers were thanked for completing the blacktop project. Five dollars will be given each room to be used on class parties for the year.

Rick Sims, physical education instructor, installed wall mats purchased by the parent teacher organization.

Mrs. Davis, building principal, stated she had been approached on sponsorship of fifth and sixth grade basketball teams. Jerry Brigner, one of the coaches, asked the PTO to purchase uniforms. The organization agreed to sponsor the team and purchase the uniforms.

A dental health program will be carried out Dec. 1-2 and mothers were asked to help.

Doughnuts and a beverage were served.

Lion Cub Finds Home

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Fritz the lion cub has a new home.

Suburban Englewood police reported Wednesday that the 7-month-old cub has been taken in by a Greene County man who keeps exotic animals for his own pleasure.

Police Chief Robert Koverman said the man, who does not want to be identified, was recommended by a member of the American Zoological Society.

"We feel we have found Fritz a good home and we are happy to see him get a new start," Koverman said.

Police, responding to an anonymous call, found the cub abandoned in a small wooden shed behind an unoccupied house Saturday.

Governor Vetoes Review Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has vetoed a bill giving the legislature the right to review all state agency rules, calling it an attempt to usurp the powers of the executive branch.

In a veto message Wednesday night, Rhodes said similar laws in other states have been unworkable and have been overturned by the courts.

The bill, which had 64 cosponsors in the House, gave the legislature the right to review any administrative rule adopted by any state agency.

Gardenwood Club Has Best Window

The Gardenwood Garden Club won top honors in the Window Trimming Contest of the Circleville Pumpkin Show, according to Charles Gerhardt of the Circleville Sertoma Club, sponsors of the contest.

The Garden Club won the $50 first prize for its entry in the window of the J.C. Penney Co. store.

The Salvation Army window, located in the company building, won the $25 second prize.

Pickaway Garden Club's entry in the Lucy's Beauty Shop window won the $15 third prize, and the Gallery on Main St. display, located in the window of J. Born Floors, won the $10 fourth prize.

Judges for the contest were Mark R. List of the Ohio State University Department of Agriculture, and Jeannette C. List, home economist with the Grove City Local School District.

Man Sentenced In Triple Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Clifford G. Chase II, convicted of killing his mother, father and brother, was sentenced 15 years to life Wednesday by Franklin County Common Pleas Judge George Tyack.

Chase, 30, was handed the sentence for the murder of his father, Robert, 44, an instructor of preventive medicine at Ohio State University.

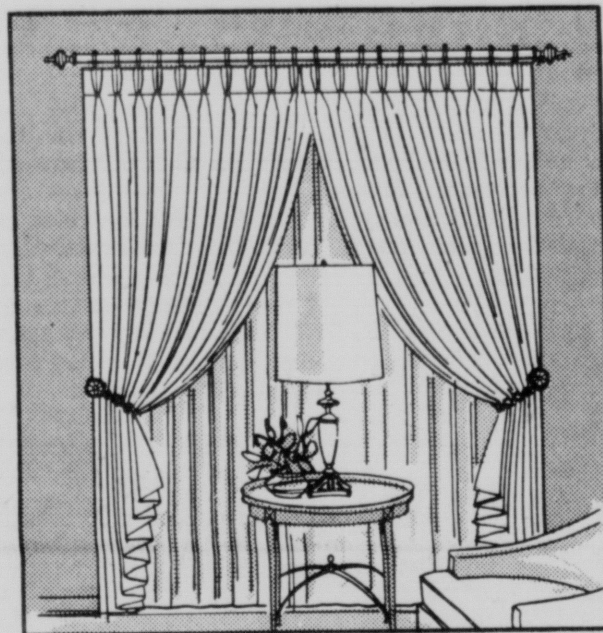

Tyack also sentenced him to five to 25 years each for the slaying of the mother, Joan, 42, a child psychologist, and the brother, Robert W., 17. All of the sentences are to run concurrently.

Defense attorney Curtis Gantz said he will appeal convictions and file motions for a new trial as well as acquittal. Tyack said how long Chase remains in prison will be up to the Adult Parole Authority.

Governor Vetoes Review Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has vetoed a bill giving the legislature the right to review all state agency rules, calling it an attempt to usurp the powers of the executive branch.

In a veto message Wednesday night, Rhodes said similar laws in other states have been unworkable and have been overturned by the courts.

The bill, which had 64 cosponsors in the House, gave the legislature the right to review any administrative rule adopted by any state agency.

It created a permanent Joint Committee on Agency Rule Review and required all state agencies to file their rules with the committee.

If eight of the 14 committee members disagreed with the rule, they could propose a legislative resolution to change or repeal it. The resolution would have to be acted upon by the full General Assembly to be effective.

"The General Assembly has attempted in this legislation to place itself in the position of exerting legislative review over the executive branch of government," Rhodes said in his veto message.

"The passage of (the bill) would subject all persons interested in the adoption or amendment of a rule to not one, but two complete hearing procedures.

"Such a duplication of responsibilities is not only unfair to every agency, commission, department and board of this state, but also unfair to those citizens interested in rule changes who are required to be present at hearings on said changes," the governor said.

Rhodes also argued that the legislature might not understand some highly-technical administrative rules drawn by specialists.

The governor said if the legislature feels strongly enough about any particular rule, it has the power now to pass a law correcting the rule. It also can legislate guidelines for rules which the agencies must follow, he said.

Rhodes said either of those alternatives is preferable to the bill because they "do not violate the fundamental principle of separation of powers."

Gardenwood Club Has Best Window

The Gardenwood Garden Club won top honors in the Window Trimming Contest of the Circleville Pumpkin Show, according to Charles Gerhardt of the Circleville Sertoma Club, sponsors of the contest.

The Garden Club won the $50 first prize for its entry in the window of the J.C. Penney Co. store.

The Salvation Army window, located in the company building, won the $25 second prize.

Pickaway Garden Club's entry in the Lucy's Beauty Shop window won the $15 third prize, and the Gallery on Main St. display, located in the window of J. Born Floors, won the $10 fourth prize.

Judges for the contest were Mark R. List of the Ohio State University Department of Agriculture, and Jeannette C. List, home economist with the Grove City Local School District.

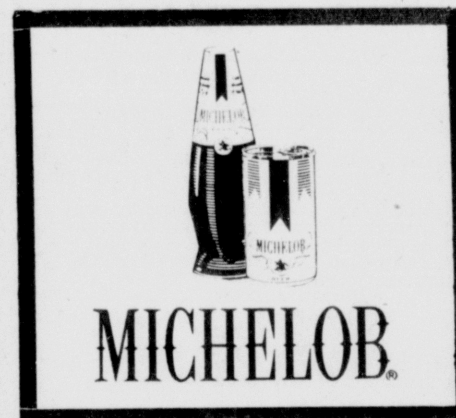

Man Sentenced In Triple Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Clifford G. Chase II, convicted of killing his mother, father and brother, was sentenced 15 years to life Wednesday by Franklin County Common Pleas Judge George Tyack.

Chase, 30, was handed the sentence for the murder of his father, Robert, 44, an instructor of preventive medicine at Ohio State University.

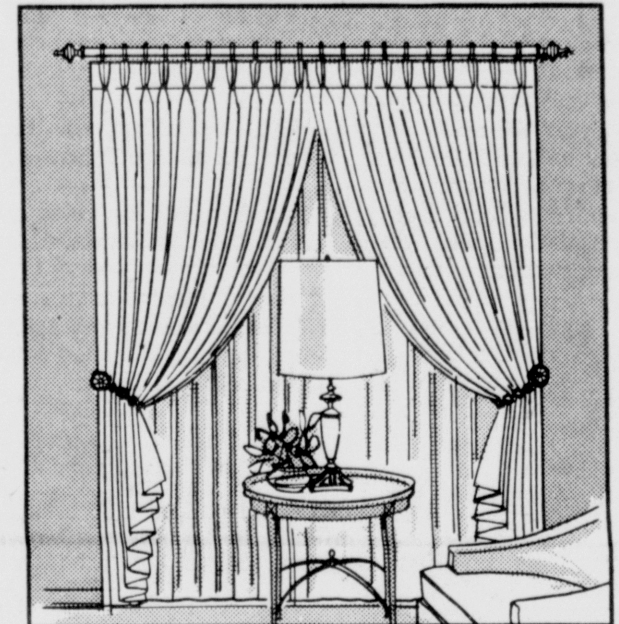

Tyack also sentenced him to five to 25 years each for the slaying of the mother, Joan, 42, a child psychologist, and the brother, Robert W., 17. All of the sentences are to run concurrently.

Defense attorney Curtis Gantz said he will appeal convictions and file motions for a new trial as well as acquittal. Tyack said how long Chase remains in prison will be up to the Adult Parole Authority.

any attempt to enact gun registration laws or outlaw the sale of firearms to our citizens.

Shoemaker stated, "Gun control has once again been brought to the forefront of national attention due to the two attempts on the life of President Ford. I do not believe that we should let ourselves be rushed into such controversial, far-reaching legislation as gun control. It seems the very mention of "gun control" precludes cool, analytical thinking, and legislation drafted in such an emotion-packed time in our history does not bode well for the best interests of either the state or its citizens."

In voicing his opposition to the registration and sale of firearms, Rep. Shoemaker stated, "Many of the proposals in this field have included such schemes as fingerprinting and photographing of firearm registrants. I feel that such a program would constitute a serious invasion of privacy and a threat to individual freedom." Rep. Shoemaker also pointed out that in view of the fourth amendment guarantee of the right to bear arms, the constitutionality of a comprehensive firearms sale and registration law could be seriously questioned.

Rep. Shoemaker also stated that he was not opposed to all forms of gun control. The Representative noted that the 107th General Assembly had passed a bill strictly controlling the sale and ownership of sawed-off shotguns without a dissenting vote in either House.

Rep. Shoemaker referred to the admitted mishandling by law enforcement agencies in the case of the recent attempt on the life of the President by Mrs. Moore, and voiced his support for legislation designed to keep guns out of the hands of convicted felons, drug addicts, alcoholics, and those not mentally competent to exercise responsible ownership of firearms. While Am. Sub. H.B. No. 511, the new criminal code of Ohio, passed by the 109th General Assembly, set up new guidelines in this area, Rep. Shoemaker feels that even more stringent penalties for illegal use of firearms could be of benefit.

Rep. Shoemaker concluded his remarks by stating that there were millions of law abiding, responsible owners of firearms in the United States, who use their guns for hunting and sport. He fears that these people would bear the burden imposed by sale and gun registration legislation, while those who intend to use their guns for illegal purposes would certainly not hesitate to disobey registration laws.

Rep. Shoemaker also stated that he was not opposed to all forms of gun control. The Representative noted that the 107th General Assembly had passed a bill strictly controlling the sale and ownership of sawed-off shotguns without a dissenting vote in either House.

Rep. Shoemaker referred to the admitted mishandling by law enforcement agencies in the case of the recent attempt on the life of the President by Mrs. Moore, and voiced his support for legislation designed to keep guns out of the hands of convicted felons, drug addicts, alcoholics, and those not mentally competent to exercise responsible ownership of firearms. While Am. Sub. H.B. No. 511, the new criminal code of Ohio, passed by the 109th General Assembly, set up new guidelines in this area, Rep. Shoemaker feels that even more stringent penalties for illegal use of firearms could be of benefit.

Rep. Shoemaker concluded his remarks by stating that there were millions of law abiding, responsible owners of firearms in the United States, who use their guns for hunting and sport. He fears that these people would bear the burden imposed by sale and gun registration legislation, while those who intend to use their guns for illegal purposes would certainly not hesitate to disobey registration laws.

3 Generations Of Family Working In Fish Stand

For 44 years the Bennett Family has had a fish fry stand in just about the same location on South Court Street during Pumpkin Show.

Ed Bennett, now the head chef for the family stand, was just about six years old when his mother and father first came up 104 from Yellowbud to sell fish, hot dogs and hamburgers to Pumpkin Show visitors.

Their first stand was within 10 feet of their present location and through all the years their spot on the "midway" had not varied more than about 10 feet.

The Bennetts grossed $17 that first day, selling nickle hot dogs and 10 cent fish and hamburgers. Now it is not unusual for the stand to gross over $1,000 on a good day.

During the week at least a ton of ocean perch will be fried and eaten at the stand.

Although they are well known for their fish the Bennetts do not follow the fair circuit. The only other fairs they take in are the Hocking County Fair and the Ohio State Fair. In addition they operate a restaurant in Kingston.

Ed Bennett donates a great deal of his time frying fish for churches and charitable organizations. He does not accept pay for this and enjoys it just about as much as anything he does.

When the Bennetts first started coming to the Pumpkin Show they rented a tent. Soon after it became the practice for Circleville Lumber to provide all the materials each year for the concessionaires who built their own booths right on location.

At the end of the week on Saturday night an auctioneer would go from booth to booth, selling it to the highest bidder.

Sometime during the 1930s the Bennetts built their first portable booth which they would bring up from Yellowbud each year.

Ed says the family goal was to sell a ton of fish and have three generations working in the booth. That goal has been achieved and the next goal is to have four generations working in the booth.

1974 COURT—The 1974 Miss Pumpkin Show, Laurie May, and her court, first attendant Diane Caruso and second attendant Lisa Creamer. Their reign ended Wednesday night when the new Miss Pumpkin Show and her court were selected.

Plan Bus Terminal

CINCINNATI (AP)—Greyhound Corp. announced plans to start building a multimillion dollar bus terminal on the city's downtown east side sometime next year.

Greyhound Corp. and a Cincinnati auto dealer told the city administration Wednesday they have signed contracts to purchase 7.5 acres of property on the east side of the downtown area from the bankrupt Penn Central Railroad.

Armen Ervanian, Greyhound vice president, said the bus firm plans to develop a terminal on 2.5 acres of the land adjacent to Interstate 71.

Mrs. Mary Ann Halmi, president of Queen City Chevrolet, said her firm plans to expand operations over seven acres of the land.

Both told city development officials the transactions are being conducted in the U.S. District Court in Philadelphia where the railroad's bankruptcy is being administered.

PTA Changing, President Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "We're definitely changing," says Dr. Robert Lucas, the first man to head the Ohio Parent Teachers Association. "We're not a tea and cookie organization any more."

Lucas took over Tuesday as the PTA delved into some of its toughest issues in its 74-year history. In the past, the organization lobbied for money for schools and worked for passage of local school levies.

"But for the first time, these last couple years, we're faced with a whole new spectrum of issues about the about balance of power between teachers and board and the question of who controls the schools."

Lucas is a former high school superintendent who now is president of Wilmington College. Asked how he feels about being the first male president of the PTA, he said he was delighted.

"I've no idea why it took so long," he said. "Traditionally, men have become second vice president but get no further."

Tougher Gun Legislation Given Push

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House Judiciary Committee was told at a hearing here Wednesday state law should provide mandatory jail sentences for persons using guns in the commission of violent crimes.

Proponents and opponents of gun control agreed that said a law would have a deterrent effect.

They testified during the committee's second in a series of hearings being held around the state on proposed gun control legislation.

Witnesses included representatives of gun collector clubs, gun dealers and conservation organizations, public officials, university professors and private citizens.

Rep. Harry Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, committee chairman, questioned most witnesses about their views on mandatory jail sentences and some spokesmen both for and against gun control measures said they favored such a provision.

Municipal Judge Allen Andrews and domestic relations Judge Andy Devine both said the fear of a mandatory jail sentence could serve as a deterrent to crime in some cases, although it is not the whole solution.

Marvin Adams, a private gun collector, also favored mandatory jail sentences under such circumstances, adding that the law's enforcement should be directed at repeat offenders.

Several witnesses, including city police and law department officials, urged that the cheap handgun known as a Saturday night special be outlawed as having no worthwhile value.

John Burkhardt, Toledo's chief legal counsel, described Toledo's handgun legislation, adopted in 1968, which requires a city identification card for a person possessing a handgun and requires the licensing of gun dealers.

Burkhardt said a major problem here is the ordinance applies only to Toledo and not the outlying areas.

Electric Firms Have Bad Image

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio electric companies lag behind other public utilities in a popularity poll of 2,300 bill-paying consumers.

The survey was commissioned by the Ohio Electric Utility Institute, an association of the state's eight investor-owned electric companies, which is undertaking a $1 million image-building public relations program.

"It (the poll) told us what we had suspected or know from actual contact with our customers," said Robert McKinnon, vice president of the institute. "They are unhappy with their bills."

The survey placed electric companies fifth among service type organizations in customer attitude "about paying their service bills." Department store, water, telephone and natural gas bills are all viewed more favorably, according to the poll.

With the possible exception of a department store bill, all of them are generally lower also, McKinnon noted.

Almost half of those questioned, 47.6 per cent, agreed with the statement that the "electric company cares more about profits than lower rates."

The companies learned some things they didn't know, however, what McKinnon described as a "reservoir of goodwill" among some customers.

For instance, the $24,000 survey, touted as the "most complete ever made of electric consumers, found the companies have "an overall positive image," the institute said.

Three-fourths of those polled thought their electric company was "friendly," 62 per cent believed it "cares about the average customer," and about 66 per cent felt they were getting "their money's worth."

But an equal number, 66 per cent, were well aware that electric rates have soared over the past two years. What disturbed the institute even more was that 70 per cent "were generally unaware of the price stability" during the decade preceding the 1973 upsurge in rates.

Most respondents were cognizant that coal and labor costs had contributed to higher bills, but "few volunteered costs of new plant equipment and high interest rates as major factors," the institute said.

Other findings of the survey undertaken by Sidney Hollander Associates of Baltimore, Md.:

—30.6 per cent rated electric service very good or excellent, 43 per cent said it was neither very good nor very bad, and 24 per cent called it fair or poor.

—40 per cent thought electric companies were predicting power shortage to justify higher rates, but nearly 47 per cent did not. Pollsters found consumers about equally divided on whether there will actually be shortages of electricity in the future.

—66 per cent said they did not know the function of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) which regulates and authorizes rates for state utilities.

The companies represented by the institute are: Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co.; Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.; Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.; Dayton Power and Light Co.; Monongahela Power Co.; Ohio Edison Co.; Ohio Power Co., and Toledo Edison Co.

Judge Up Creek In Legal Matter

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Judge Douglas K. Ferguson plans to take a canoe trip on the Stillwater River Saturday to help him in court.

Weather permitting, the Montgomery County Common Pleas judge will paddle the river in a canoe. Several attorneys will go along.

Ferguson is hearing two cases challenging the river's designation as a scenic waterway. He said the canoe trip will give him a better understanding of the case.

PTA Changing, President Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "We're definitely changing," says Dr. Robert Lucas, the first man to head the Ohio Parent Teachers Association. "We're not a tea and cookie organization any more."

Lucas took over Tuesday as the PTA delved into some of its toughest issues in its 74-year history. In the past, the organization lobbied for money for schools and worked for passage of local school levies.

"But for the first time, these last couple years, we're faced with a whole new spectrum of issues about the about balance of power between teachers and board and the question of who controls the schools."

Lucas is a former high school superintendent who now is president of Wilmington College. Asked how he feels about being the first male president of the PTA, he said he was delighted.

"I've no idea why it took so long," he said. "Traditionally, men have become second vice president but get no further."

The smallest fully functional violin made is one 5½ inches over all, constructed by T. B. Pollard of Rock Ferry, Birkenhead, England.

Tougher Gun Legislation Given Push

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House Judiciary Committee was told at a hearing here Wednesday state law should provide mandatory jail sentences for persons using guns in the commission of violent crimes.

Proponents and opponents of gun control agreed that said a law would have a deterrent effect.

They testified during the committee's second in a series of hearings being held around the state on proposed gun control legislation.

Witnesses included representatives of gun collector clubs, gun dealers and conservation organizations, public officials, university professors and private citizens.

Rep. Harry Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, committee chairman, questioned most witnesses about their views on mandatory jail sentences and some spokesmen both for and against gun control measures said they favored such a provision.

Municipal Judge Allen Andrews and domestic relations Judge Andy Devine both said the fear of a mandatory jail sentence could serve as a deterrent to crime in some cases, although it is not the whole solution.

Marvin Adams, a private gun collector, also favored mandatory jail sentences under such circumstances, adding that the law's enforcement should be directed at repeat offenders.

Several witnesses, including city police and law department officials, urged that the cheap handgun known as a Saturday night special be outlawed as having no worthwhile value.

John Burkhart, Toledo's chief legal counsel, described Toledo's handgun legislation, adopted in 1968, which requires a city identification card for a person possessing a handgun and requires the licensing of gun dealers.

Burkhart said a major problem here is the ordinance applies only to Toledo and not the outlying areas.

Electric Firms Have Bad Image

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio electric companies lag behind other public utilities in a popularity poll of 2,300 bill-paying consumers.

The survey was commissioned by the Ohio Electric Utility Institute, an association of the state's eight investor-owned electric companies, which is undertaking a $1 million image-building public relations program.

"It (the poll) told us what we had suspected or know from actual contact with our customers," said Robert McKinnon, vice president of the institute. "They are unhappy with their bills."

The survey placed electric companies fifth among service type organizations in customer attitude "about paying their service bills." Department store, water, telephone and natural gas bills are all viewed more favorably, according to the poll.

With the possible exception of a department store bill, all of them are generally lower also, McKinnon noted.

Almost half of those questioned, 47.6 per cent, agreed with the statement that the "electric company cares more about profits than lower rates."

The companies learned some things they didn't know, however, what McKinnon described as a "reservoir of goodwill" among some customers.

For instance, the $24,000 survey, touted as the "most complete ever made of electric consumers, found the companies have "an overall positive image," the institute said.

Three-fourths of those polled thought their electric company was "friendly," 62 per cent believed it "cares about the average customer," and about 66 per cent felt they were getting "their money's worth."

But an equal number, 66 per cent, were well aware that electric rates have soared over the past two years. What disturbed the institute even more was that 70 per cent "were generally unaware of the price stability" during the decade preceding the 1973 upsurge in rates.

Most respondents were cognizant that coal and labor costs had contributed to higher bills, but "few volunteered costs of new plant equipment and high interest rates as major factors," the institute said.

Other findings of the survey undertaken by Sidney Hollander Associates of Baltimore, Md.:

—30.6 per cent rated electric service very good or excellent, 43 per cent said it was neither very good nor very bad, and 24 per cent called it fair or poor. —40 per cent thought electric companies were predicting power shortage to justify higher rates, but nearly 47 per cent did not. Pollsters found consumers about equally divided on whether there will actually be shortages of electricity in the future.

—66 per cent said they did not know the function of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) which regulates and authorizes rates for state utilities.

The companies represented by the institute are: Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co.; Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.; Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.; Dayton Power and Light Co.; Monongahela Power Co.; Ohio Edison Co.; Ohio Power Co., and Toledo Edison Co.

Classes Elect Officers

By LORA BEAVERS

"I seconded it" closed the Class Officer elections for another year.

Each class met on Wednesday, October 1, to elect officers for this school year. Chosen to preside over the classes are as follows: Seniors: Rob Black, president; Barbara Bolender, vice president; Mark Kennedy, secretary; Jerry Gillilan, treasurer; and Doug Goode, sargent-at-arms.

Juniors: Rick Payne, president; Karen Gifford, vice president; Dianna Moss, secretary; Tim Fouch, treasurer; and Oscar Allen, sargent-at-arms.

Leading the Sophomores will be Jerry Scanlan, president; Kim Loper, vice president; Cindy Gifford, secretary; John Mettler, treasurer; and Rock Huggins, sargent-at-arms.

Freshmen officers are: Terry Wright, president; May Stump, vice president; Janet Newman, secretary; Kathy Reichelderfer, treasurer; and Rick Chaffin, sargent-at-arms.

When asked what his goals are for the Senior class, Rob Black stated, "I want it to be one of the best graduating classes ever and to make this year a better and easier year without all the hassles and complicated things that the Seniors have to go through."

Girl's Phys Ed Teacher Is Featured

By WAYNE LINTHICUM

Our teacher feature of the month for October is Mrs. Christy Owens.

Mrs. Owens is the girls physical education and health instructor for grades nine and ten. She is a graduate of Ohio State and resides in Columbus with her husband, Gary. While at Ohio State, she did her student teaching at Grove City High School.

When not teaching, Mrs. Owens enjoys all sports, especially outdoors, and she likes animals for she works with a veterinarian in the summer.

Mrs. Owens feels that Logan Elm is a fantastic place to teach, and the facilities are really nice.

We here at Logan Elm hope Mrs. Owens is around for a long time.

Course Offered

By JEFF REICHELDERFER

This year a new class offered at LE is Bachelor Survival. So far the boys have just been preparing different types of meals, but they will be doing several other things later. Some of these things are clothing and textiles, housing and home furnishing, consumerism, etc.

The teacher who started this course is Mrs. Sims. The boys who participate in this class really enjoy it and would recommend it to any boy in the future years.

Red Sox Edge Reds To Even Series

CINCINNATI (AP) — The magic of the Cincinnati Reds at Riverfront Stadium is nothing compared to the magic of Luis Tiant.

The tricky Boston right-hander broke Cincinnati's home field spell with some sleight of hand Wednesday night and made the Reds disappear in the fourth game of the World Series.

Squirring out of more jams than a Houdini, Tiant tamed the Reds 5-4 with a remarkably courageous performance and led the buoyant Red Sox into a 2-2 tie in the best-of-seven Series.

"The man has done the job all year long," said Boston Manager Darrell Johnson, who will start Reggie Cleveland against Cincinnati's Don Gullett in Game 5 tonight. "He was out there at the end tonight, and he did the job again."

The Reds have been almost impossible to beat at home this year. They had a 67-17 record before Wednesday night's game. At first, it looked like they were going to continue their dramatic domination at Riverfront against Tiant.

Boston's star pitcher, who had shut out Cincinnati at Fenway Park in the Series opener last Saturday, was obviously not himself with only three days' rest. The Reds gave the roaring Riverfront fans a lift with two quick runs off the chunky right-hander in the first inning.

"My breaking ball was not as good as it was in Boston," Tiant, stroking his famous Fu Manchu mustache, told the press later. "I used my fastball more tonight. Also, the mound is higher here than in Fenway Park. That bothered my control."

But the sudden Cincinnati thunder didn't take the heart out of Tiant. If anything, he pitched with more heart as the pulsating game wore on.

"After I settled down," said Tiant, "I pitched more of my own game."

Down 2-0 in the first, Boston didn't stay that way for long. The Sox routed Cincinnati lefthander Fred Norman with a five-run fourth — and suddenly the Red Sox and their ancient right-hander had a 5-2 lead.

Tiant was still struggling, though. In the Reds' half of the fourth, he gave up two runs. And Fisk thought for a moment that Tiant would be driven to shelter.

"I thought we lost him," said the catcher. "He just wasn't pitching a typical Luis Tiant game. He had better control in the opener at Fenway. His breaking ball just wasn't working."

Johnson said, however, that he had no intention of taking his best pitcher out of the game.

"Luis did seem to have a breakdown with the mound a couple of times," Johnson said. "But it took a couple of hitters for him to straighten himself out and he was on his way again."

Magically, Tiant worked out of the jam in the fourth. The right-hander also had nervous times in the fifth, gave up hits in the sixth and eighth and then found himself in big trouble in the ninth.

Tiant gave up a leadoff single to Cesar Geronimo and then a sacrifice bunt to Ed Armbrister that moved the potential tying run into scoring position.

Working with extreme care to the dangerous Pete Rose, Tiant walked him to put men on first and second with one out. Then Griffey hit one of Tiant's pitches way back in center field and sleek Fred Lynn raced back to make a stunning catch over his head.

"He didn't get that good a jump on the ball, but I thought he would catch it," right fielder Dwight Evans said of his teammate's gorgeous catch. "He's a great outfielder."

Johnson himself kind of thought that the young Boston thoroughbred would catch up with the tremendous shot off Griffey's bat.

"I knew if the ball would stay in the park he would get it like he has all season," noted Johnson.

Then Tiant faced Joe Morgan, the Cincinnati sparkplug who was the Reds' hero Tuesday night, and got him on a harmless popup to Carl Yastrzemski at first. That did it, and Tiant's joyous teammates swamped him, pounding his back and hugging the extraordinary Cuban who made 163 pitches in nine tireless innings.

"It was a great effort on his part," said Fisk. "It was a tough situation to walk out of alive. He was really aggressive out there tonight."

Tiant worked his wonderful magic in a splendid World Series setting. The game had everything. Yastrzemski, the Boston captain, said, "It was one helluva game," the winner's smile painted on his face in broad brush strokes. "You didn't know until the last out who was going to win. And that's the way a World Series game should be played."

Doubles by Griffey and Johnny Bench in the first inning produced two Cincinnati runs before the Red Sox came back with their game-breaking inning in the fourth. Evans tripled home two runs to tie the game and Rick Burleson, a defensive giant all Series, doubled home another to give the Red Sox their go-ahead run.

Then they wrapped it up as a fourth run scored with the help of an infield error and a fifth on Yastrzemski's single. That made it 5-2 Boston before the never-say-die Reds came back in their half of the inning on run-scoring hits by Dave Concepcion and Geronimo.

The Red Sox' victory insured that the series will go back to Boston for at least a sixth game on Saturday.

"We've earned some respect from the Reds, I think," said Fisk.

And now the Red Sox have a good chance to earn a World Series.

Crusaders Capture Fight-Marred Game

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The Cleveland Crusaders have captured their first victory of the World Hockey Association, but not without a fight.

"It wasn't really hockey," said Crusader goalie Gerry Cheevers, who, who turned back 28 shots the final two periods to anchor the 8-4 fight-filled victory over Minnesota Wednesday night. "It looked like a football game out there."

Cheevers and opposing goalie Mike Curran were among 22 players charged with penalties in the game which saw referee Ron Asseseltine whistle 47 infractions totaling 190 minutes and eject six players following a second period melee.

Hunter Safety Classes Scheduled

The Pickaway County Extension Office is sponsoring the National Rifle Association Conservation and Hunter Safety Program.

The program consists of four two-hour intensive instruction sessions. The program will be held October 22, 23, 29, and 30, from 7-9 p.m., at the 4-H and Grange Building. The course is open to all interested individuals 13 years old and older.

Penn State is playing its 65th football season.

TIGERS—One of the reasons for the 6-0 record of the 1975 Circleville High School football Tigers is this bunch of juniors who have been playing a key role and will be back next year. From the left, first row, Randy Happeney, Brett Allen, Brian Fath, Mearle

Logan, Art Davis, Scott Barthelmas and Harl Stevenson. Second row, John Hoffman, Brad Allison, Chuck Wellman, Bill Mogan, Tom McGuire, Bryan Price, Frank Merrill and Allen Rhoades, manager.

"I feel that Miami Trace could very well be the best team that we have played to this point. They have fine personnel and are well balanced both offensively and defensively," Circleville coach Larry Cook commented as he discussed the upcoming game at Miami Trace Friday night.

Both teams are going into the game with identical records, 3-0 in the South Central Ohio League and 6-0 overall.

The Tigers have beaten Madison Plains, Greenfield and Wilmington in league action and have defeated Chillicothe, Teays Valley and Athens in non league competition.

Unio, Madison Plains and Hillsboro have fallen to Trace in league while the Panthers have beaten Springfield Northeastern, Springfield Greeno and Jackson in out of league contests.

Miami Trace will use multiple offensive sets with balanced and unbalanced lines and will combine a good running game with a strong aerial attack to pick up yardage and put points on the board. They like to hit quick with the long run or the big pass.

The Panthers will utilize a 6-2, 6-1 or 4-4 with man to man pass coverage in an attempt to apply a lot of pressure up front.

Circleville coaches made the following awards for performances in the Wilmington game: Art Davis, offensive lineman; Frank Merrill, offensive back; Biff Bumgarner, defensive lineman; Brent Mancini, defensive back; Bill Mogan, specialty team; Mike Edgington, practice player of the week.

The Tigers are completely healthy except for Toren Bensonhaver. The sophomore underwent surgery to repair torn knee ligaments and is lost for the season. However, the operation was a success and Toren has returned to school.

Starting on offense for the Tigers will be: Tom Strawser, center; Bryan Price and Tim Hartinger, guards; Art Davis and Tom England, tackles; Tom McGuire, split end; Jeff Lackey, tight end; Brent Mancini, quarterback; Bill Mogan, fullback; Frank Merrill, wingback; Biff Bumgarner, tailback.

When the Circleville defense hits the field it will be: Bo Barthelmas, middle guard; Tom Strawser and Art Davis, tackles; Mearle Logan and Biff Bumgarner, ends; Tim Hartinger and Bill Mogan, linebackers; Tom McGuire, Tiger man; Frank Merrill, 5-yard halfback; Brian Fath, strong safety; Brent Mancini, middle safety.

Tigers Jump To 4th In Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four new leaders pop up this week in the Ohio High School Athletic Association's computerized regional football ratings.

Findlay is the lone newcomer in Class AAA, taking over in Region 2 from Upper Arlington.

Cincinnati Wyoming went to the top in Class AA Region 8 ahead of London, last week's No. 1 team.

Loudonville and Carey are new faces in the Class A leads. Loudonville skipped ahead of Burton Berkshire in Region 9. Carey went around Montpelier for the Region 10 top spot.

Holdover frontrunners are Class AAA Cincinnati Moeller, Lakewood St. Edward and East Liverpool, Class AA Cleveland Holy Name, Oregon Stritch and Ironton and Class A Newark Catholic and Middletown Fenwick.

Red Machine Short On Power

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Big Red Machine is suffering from a power shortage.

"This is not the team I know," lamented Joe Morgan after Luis Tiant short-circuited the National League champions Wednesday night for the second time, evening the World Series at 2-2, with a gutty 5-4 victory.

The Reds, who romped to a 20-game victory margin in the NL West, then stormed past potent Pittsburgh in three straight playoff games, have an acute case of slumbering bats.

Fearful as one of baseball's most awesome offenses in years, the Big Red Machine has lurched to a slow start, averaging a meek .212 against Boston in World Series play.

"You have to attribute some of it to their pitching staff," said Morgan. He may have meant Tiant, the balding batter who has taunted the Reds with his tantalizing assortment of slow, slow and slower stuff.

"I didn't think he would beat us," said Morgan, whom Tiant coaxed into to a game-ending popup after the Reds mounted a ninth-inning threat, putting runners at second and first.

"Even as the game went on I was waiting for us to explode. He's something when he has to be," said Morgan, who led the Reds during the regular season with a .323 mark but has only three hits in four games for a sickly .214 mark.

"We made mistakes again and you can't make mistakes against a good team," said the fiery all-star second baseman.

"It was the best pitch I had all day," said Morgan, after his game-ending out. "That's the bad thing about it." "I just didn't think he could go the last five innings without giving up a run," he added.

The gloomiest of the Reds is slugger Tony Perez, the most prolific run producer in baseball over the past nine years, but a pathetic, slump-ridden figure in Series play.

Perez is 0-for-14, one of the worst slumps of his career.

"I'm trying everything," said Perez who has suddenly gone cold after batting .417 in the playoff sweep of Pittsburgh.

"Louie's got me on my toes. I can't wait. I can't stay back on the motion," said the disconsolate Cuban, who added to his woes by bobbling a grounder that allowed a Boston run to score during a five-run bombardment in the fourth.

How good was Tiant? Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson wasted no words. "All I can say is that Luis is doing all the talking for himself."

The Reds had their chance in the ninth when Cesar Geronimo singled to open the inning. Ed Armbrister, the center of controversy the night before, moved him to second with a sacrifice bunt. After Pete Rose walked, Ken Griffey ripped a long drive to deep center.

Rookie Fred Lynn made a sensational going-away snag to preserve the victory.

"What else can I say?" asked Griffey. "It was a great catch."

Anderson agreed. "I knew it was going to stay in the park. I was just hoping he'd fall down or something."

Rangers Top Flames, 3-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Walter Tkaczuk said his goal was easy. Jean Ratelle said his was lucky. Whatever, it gave the New York Rangers a 3-1 National Hockey League victory over the Atlanta Flames.

"That was just about the clearest shot I've ever had," said Tkaczuk, who scored the tie-breaking goal after taking a goalmouth pass from Greg Polis at 18:58 of the second period.

"I missed the puck," Ratelle said about his insurance tally. "I was trying to pass it to Steve (Vickers) and it went into the net."

In other NHL games Wednesday night, Pittsburgh crushed Toronto 8-4, Minnesota defeated California 4-1, Detroit and Chicago tied 4-4, and Los Angeles edged Washington 4-3.

In the World Hockey Association, it was New England over Edmonton 5-4 in overtime, and Cleveland besting Minnesota 8-4.

Detroit Pistons Top Cavaliers

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Kevin Porter scored 16 points and seven other Detroit Pistons hit double figures Wednesday as the Pistons stopped Cleveland 121-102, their second straight exhibition game victory over the Cavaliers.

All-American Campy Russell, who starred at the University of Michigan, where the game was played, hit 21 points for Cleveland. The Cavs took a first-period lead, 33-24, but Detroit stormed to a 37-point second period and led 61-52 at the half, never to trail again.

Miami Trace will use multiple offensive sets with balanced and unbalanced lines and will combine a good running game with a strong aerial attack to pick up yardage and put points on the board. They like to hit quick with the long run or the big pass.

The Panthers will utilize a 6-2, 6-1 or 4-4 with man to man pass coverage in an attempt to apply a lot of pressure up front.

Circleville coaches made the following awards for performances in the Wilmington game: Art Davis, offensive lineman; Frank Merrill, offensive back; Biff Bumgarner, defensive lineman; Brent Mancini, defensive back; Bill Mogan, specialty team; Mike Edgington, practice player of the week.

The Tigers are completely healthy except for Toren Bensonhaver. The sophomore underwent surgery to repair torn knee ligaments and is lost for the season. However, the operation was a success and Toren has returned to school.

Starting on offense for the Tigers will be: Tom Strawser, center; Bryan Price and Tim Hartinger, guards; Art Davis and Tom England, tackles; Tom McGuire, split end; Jeff Lackey, tight end; Brent Mancini, quarterback; Bill Mogan, fullback; Frank Merrill, wingback; Biff Bumgarner, tailback.

When the Circleville defense hits the field it will be: Bo Barthelmas, middle guard; Tom Strawser and Art Davis, tackles; Mearle Logan and Biff Bumgarner, ends; Tim Hartinger and Bill Mogan, linebackers; Tom McGuire, Tiger man; Frank Merrill, 5-yard halfback; Brian Fath, strong safety; Brent Mancini, middle safety.

Tigers Jump To 4th In Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four new leaders pop up this week in the Ohio High School Athletic Association's computerized regional football ratings.

Findlay is the lone newcomer in Class AAA, taking over in Region 2 from Upper Arlington.

Cincinnati Wyoming went to the top in Class AA Region 8 ahead of London, last week's No. 1 team.

Loudonville and Carey are new faces in the Class A leads. Loudonville skipped ahead of Burton Berkshire in Region 9. Carey went around Montpelier for the Region 10 top spot.

Holdover frontrunners are Class AAA Cincinnati Moeller, Lakewood St. Edward and East Liverpool, Class AA Cleveland Holy Name, Oregon Stritch and Ironton and Class A Newark Catholic and Middletown Fenwick.

Red Machine Short On Power

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Big Red Machine is suffering from a power shortage.

"This is not the team I know," lamented Joe Morgan after Luis Tiant short-circuited the National League champions Wednesday night for the second time, evening the World Series at 2-2, with a gutty 5-4 victory.

The Reds, who romped to a 20-game victory margin in the NL West, then stormed past potent Pittsburgh in three straight playoff games, have an acute case of slumbering bats.

Fear as one of baseball's most awesome offenses in years, the Big Red Machine has lurched to a slow start, averaging a meek .212 against Boston in World Series play.

"You have to attribute some of it to their pitching staff," said Morgan. He may have meant Tiant, the balding battler who has taunted the Reds with his tantalizing assortment of slow, slow and slower stuff.

"I didn't think he would beat us," said Morgan, whom Tiant coaxed into a game-ending popup after the Reds mounted a ninth-inning threat, putting runners at second and first.

"Even as the game went on I was waiting for us to explode. He's something when he has to be," said Morgan, who led the Reds during the regular season with a .323 mark but has only three hits in four games for a sickly .214 mark.

"We made mistakes again and you can't make mistakes against a good team," said the fiery all-star second baseman.

"It was the best pitch I had all day," said Morgan, after his game-ending out. "That's the bad thing about it."

"I just didn't think he could go the last five innings without giving up a run," he added.

The gloomiest of the Reds is slugger Tony Perez, the most prolific run producer in baseball over the past nine years, but a pathetic, slump-ridden figure in Series play.

Perez is 0-for-14, one of the worst slumps of his career.

"I'm trying everything," said Perez who has suddenly gone cold after batting .417 in the playoff sweep of Pittsburgh.

"Louie's got me on my toes. I can't wait. I can't stay back on the motion," said the disconsolate Cuban, who added to his woes by bobbling a grounder that allowed a Boston run to score during a five-run bombardment in the fourth.

How good was Tiant?

Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson wasted no words. "All I can say is that Luis is doing all the talking for himself."

The Reds had their chance in the ninth when Cesar Geronimo singled to open the inning. Ed Armbrister, the center of controversy the night before, moved him to second with a sacrifice bunt. After Pete Rose walked, Ken Griffey ripped a long drive to deep center.

Rookie Fred Lynn made a sensational going-away snag to preserve the victory.

"What else can I say?" asked Griffey. "It was a great catch."

Anderson agreed. "I knew it was going to stay in the park. I was just hoping he'd fall down or something."

Rangers Top Flames, 3-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Walter Tkaczuk said his goal was easy. Jean Ratelle said his was lucky. Whatever, it gave the New York Rangers a 3-1 National Hockey League victory over the Atlanta Flames.

"That was just about the clearest shot I've ever had," said Tkaczuk, who scored the tie-breaking goal after taking a goalmouth pass from Greg Polis at 18:58 of the second period.

"I missed the puck," Ratelle said about his insurance tally. "I was trying to pass it to Steve (Vickers) and it went into the net."

In other NHL games Wednesday night, Pittsburgh crushed Toronto 8-4, Minnesota defeated California 4-1, Detroit and Chicago tied 4-4, and Los Angeles edged Washington 4-3.

In the World Hockey Association, it was New England over Edmonton 5-4 in overtime, and Cleveland besting Minnesota 8-4.

Detroit Pistons Top Cavaliers

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Kevin Porter scored 16 points and seven other Detroit Pistons hit double figures Wednesday as the Pistons stopped Cleveland 121-102, their second straight exhibition game victory over the Cavaliers.

All-American Campy Russell, who starred at the University of Michigan, where the game was played, hit 21 points for Cleveland. The Cavs took a first-period lead, 33-24, but Detroit stormed to a 37-point second period and led 61-52 at the half, never to trail again.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You now have a chance to capitalize on some of your finest gifts, two being adaptability and a spirit of enterprise. But keep reins in check. Don't be overly aggressive.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Keep domestic matters harmonious: much of the burden may rest on YOU this weekend, but you can handle it. Emphasize discretion, level-headedness.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): If you stick close to facts and control that imagination of yours, you should get along fine during this busy, sometimes hectic, period. Pick your way discreetly.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You are always ambitious, and this day will open new areas for you to profit by your know-how. Results may not be immediate, however, so be patient.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): What you want and what you really need may be widely different. Be realistic about your affairs and don't put the cart before the horse, falling wittlessly into traps.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): It's mostly up to you whether you will gain ground, make ends meet or just drift. Some usual suggestions or directives will be absent. Be ready to plow your way through.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Day calls for your best management. Make all moves deliberately and thoughtfully, and emphasize your innate poise and sense of balance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): You may now have an opportunity to advance through a unique idea. At least, make plans to project one at the right moment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Mixed planetary influences. You may alternate between quick, aggressive moves and periods of slowing down, for no apparent reason. Aim at stabilization.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Don't go looking for mistakes and faults. You may find more than you bargained for. Stress your optimistic side. Creative pursuits especially favored.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You are usually quick to grasp opportunity, often seek — and find — it where others wouldn't even dream of looking. And NOW is the time for making use of this fine trait.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Let good judgment guide your decisions. As with Leo, figure out what you MUST have against what you would like. The latter may have to be sacrificed in part.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine intellect, a gregarious personality and a strong sense of justice. Your artistic qualities may have the quality of genius. The Libran leads or follows with equal ease, but prefers doing things according to his own methods. You are an enthusiast, keen about every aspect of life. Therefore, you never find life dull. You are endowed with more perception of others' needs and more objectivity of thought than most persons, so could succeed as a statesman, diplomat, judge, writer or inventor. You would also make an outstanding entertainer. Birthdate of: Robert Lansing, Amer. statesman; Rita Hayworth and Montgomery Clift, film stars.

Greg Pruitt Shoulders Heavy Load

CLEVELAND (AP)—The collective Cleveland Browns' legend of running greats Marion Motley, Jim Brown and Leroy Kelly is a heavy load for little Greg Pruitt to carry these days.

But the 5-foot-10, 190-pound scabbard from the University of Oklahoma is less worried about living in the shadow of legends than living in the shadows of defeat.

The Browns are 0-4 this season—the worst start in the club's history—and Pruitt has not been able to lead the struggling Cleveland offense out of its lethargy.

The three-year veteran has carried the ball more than twice as many times as the No. 2 rusher on the squad, gaining 221 yards in 54 attempts. Fullback Hugh McKinnis has picked up 107 yards in 25 carries.

The busy Pruitt also has caught 12 passes for 37 yards, run back four punts for 22 yards and six kickoffs for 141 yards.

Those are, however, hardly the kind of figures expected of Pruitt by himself or the Cleveland coaching staff.

"Everybody grabs Greg because he's small," explained Cleveland Coach Forrest Gregg. "They stay up high on him and he's very main target. It has to be very frustrating for him."

"And we can't take the pressure off Greg," he added. "We have to use him."

NEW YORK (AP) — Last week's Nielsen's brought great news to ABC. Not only were seven ABC shows among the nation's 20 highest-rated evening programs, the network also was No. 1 in the week's ratings averages.

It was the first time this had happened in the new television season for ABC, traditionally No. 3 in the weekly ratings averages.

CBS, traditionally the frontrunner in those averages, the past 20 years, slipped to an unusual third place last week, but remained No. 1 in the over-all weekly averages logged in the first five weeks of the new season.

The gospel according to A.C. Nielsen Co., while heartening to ABC, still had some bad news for the Saturday night variety show ABC sportscaster Howard Cosell hosts live from Fun City.

During ABC's Monday night football game this week, Cosell was heard to remark that he felt his much-publicized variety show finally had "turned the corner." It had, but right onto a downward slope.

It posted its weakest rating in the four weeks it has been on the air and got a measly 19 per cent share of the estimated audience.

Well, at least ABC says it'll stick with the show for 20 weeks.

No such luck for CBS' "Big Eddie," a new, low-rated Friday night situation comedy that has been getting regularly clobbered along with ABC's "Mobile One" by NBC's top-rated "Sanford and Son."

CBS says it is axing Eddie after Nov. 14 and filling his time slot until mid-season with special programs it will announce later.

The cancellation puts yet another hole in the new season's controversial "family viewing" period of little sex and reduced violence.

Of six new shows axed so far this season, five are "family hour" entries — NBC's "Montefusco's," "Fay," "Family Holvak" and "Invisible Man" series and now, CBS' "Big Eddie."

The sixth, CBS' "Kate McShane," started well after the family hour.

Whether new family hour shows will continue to lead the cancellation parade in coming weeks, as predicted in some quarters in Hollywood, remains to be seen.

Ben Webster Leads Trotting Winnings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ben Webster leads six other drivers who have won more than a million dollars this season during North American races, the U.S. Trotting Association says.

With 221 victories, Webster is the top money winner at $1,862,891.

Following him are William Gilmour, $1,652,571; Carmine Abbatiello, $1,561,157; Herve Filion, $1,391,912, and Delmer Insko, $1,109,474.

Ada Bradney, Kathy Henn Win Pie, Cake Baking Competition This Year

The unthinkable was thought of and executed in the Baked Good Department of Pumpkin Show as needlepoint was used on some of the decorated cakes. The face of George Washington in a frame caught the eye of the many hundreds of people who came to the Pumpkin Show Building to see and smell the delightful aroma of baked goods, vegetables and flowers.

Grand Champion in the Bake-A-Pumpkin-Pie contest was Ada Bradney of Route 1, Amanda; Champion honors went to Alice Neal, Route 1, Amanda; third to Mrs. Wendell Turner, 348 Watt St., and fourth, Mrs. George Eitel, 531 N. Pickaway St.

Rosemary Plum of Route 1, Ashville received the award of Grand Champion Cake for a white fudge cake; Kathy Henn of 429 Ruth Ave., won the Champion Cake award for a German chocolate cake.

Best Bicentennial Baker, a new category for this year especially for senior citizens, was won by Mrs. Gladys Hedges of Route 1, Laurelville for a chocolate layer cake.

Judges for the cakes and pumpkin pies were Joan Lancaster of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.; Irene Bowen, Brenda Burris, Cindy Wier and Mary Harp of Columbia Gas of Ohio.

 William Lowery, 18, 156 W. Water St., no operator's license; no safety equipment; no registration.

Motor Damaged

The Circleville Fire Department was called to Sharff's The Other Place Wednesday afternoon at 12:20 for an overheated furnace motor.

Firemen disconnected the motor. Only minor damages were reported.

THE JUDGES—Making an all-time difficult decision during the first night of the Pumpkin Show, these three men chose Miss Pumpkin Show and two attendants from a field of 12 contestants. They are Dan Imel, from WBNS Television, right; Dr. Jerry Palmer, a pediatrician at Children's Hospital, center; and Ron Walker, owner and operator of Walker's Vinyards. After much deliberation, the judges narrowed the competition to six and then called the three top selections to the stage once more before making a final decision. They really took their job seriously and made a beautiful decision. See Page One for proof.

WHICH ONE?—The most oft asked question in Wednesday night's parade of Miss Pumpkin Show candidates was, "Which one?" While the question pertained to the candidates, parade spectators were also curious as to which person in the golf cart was Jingles, The Clown, and which was Ned Harden, vice-president of the show.

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Do you need a good book for your child this week? We have lots and lots in the Children's Room.

"Frog Goes to Dinner" by Mercer Mayer has very good pictures that explain themselves without the need of words. It's about a frog that goes to a fancy restaurant in the pocket of a boy. The antics that happen when the frog jumps out of the boy's pocket are sure to make your child laugh!

Folktales are available in the children's room. A Russian folktale, "The Peasant's Pea Patch" translated by Guy Daniels is a beautifully illustrated book. The story is about a peasant whose pea patch is invaded by cranes. As the farmer tries to save his crops he heads into some undesirable adventures. This book is worth checking out for the illustrations as well as the story.

A book based on an incident in Napoleon's life is the story of "The Emperor and the Drummer Boy" by Ruth Robbins. The book is about a storm, shipwreck, loyalty and courage. This is a book to which young children will enjoy listening and older children can enrich their reading.

Do you have a child that enjoys roller skating? "The Runaway Roller Skate" by John Vernon Lord is just the book for the skater in your family. The story is about Mr. Ellwood whose favorite roller skate is stolen by a mouse. The humorous situations Mr. Ellwood encounters as he tries to recover his skate are fun to read for every child.

Construction Under Way On Cable Addition

Construction is under way on a major cable addition for growth and service improvement in the Circleville exchange, General Telephone Co. of Ohio announced today.

William D. Anderson, Circleville customer service manager, said the $62,300 project is designed to upgrade service and provide for future growth in the area.

The new cable, which will beef up facilities in the northeast rural section of the exchange, will be buried where possible. Portions of the new cable will also replace existing facilities for maintenance reasons.

"Additions of this type are the result of needs indicated by our studies and forecasts," Anderson said. "This allows us to plan for orderly growth within a given area."

The Circleville exchange serves 7,456 customers in a 187.4-square-mile area of Pickaway and Fairfield counties.

Grange Youth Win Scrapbook Prize

The Pickaway County Grange Youth received a first place ribbon on their scrapbook of activities during the past Grange Year. This award was given at the 103rd Annual Session of the Ohio State Grange being held this week in Cleveland.

The Youth also received second place on their banner promoting Grange activities. Paul Dunkle received second place in the youth candy making contest with his entry of Butterscotch Fudge.

Representing the youth in the Princess competition was Barbara Bolender, a member of Washington Grange.

What? A story about another mouse?

Yes. This one is called "Mousekin's Golden House" by Edna Miller. This story fits right in with the Pumpkin Show because it is about a mouse that finds a pumpkin and makes his home there. The story has a very sweet ending, and is one your child will want to read.

Ever complain because you can't find a fall poem for your child? In "Poetry for Autumn" selected by Leland B. Jacobs you will find a poem for almost any autumn day, including ones for special days. This book is a good one to help your child read and understand poetry.

Looking for a book that tells facts about fall? Look no longer! The children's room has "Fall Is Here" by Dorothy Sterling. This book tells how trees, plants, and animals get ready for fall — it even lists experiments to try.

Whether you want facts or just a story to read, stop in and see us. This is a good week to choose a book and read.
